Plan Finish Fight On Quack Doctors

HUGE PLOT AILED IN INQUIRY

Connecticut State Attorney Seeks New Evidence For Grand Jury

WILL PROBE WORK OF CHIROPRACTORS

School Circular Tells How Dead Are Brought Back to Life

(By United Press Leased Wire)
HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 23.—
States Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn today was endeavoring to ascertain whether there is an "interchange system" in operation between quack doctors of Connecticut and New York.

He planned to confer with District Attorney Joab Banton in New York with regard to this during the next few days.

Alcorn also said that although Dr. George Sutcliffe, for whom a warrant had been issued, had not yet been definitely located, he hoped to produce him before the grand jury when it reconvenes Monday to continue inquiry into operations by alleged charlatans in this state.

"We have an idea where he is but we cannot say that he will definitely be apprehended at once.
It is our hope to have him testify
before the grand jury when it re-
convenes on Monday."

Regarding Sutcliffe, the state's attorney said:
"We have an idea where he is
but we cannot say that he will
definitely be apprehended at once.
It is our hope to have him testify
before the grand jury when it re-
convenes on Monday."

Alleged malpractice by holders of chiropractors' license will be investigated "when the time comes," Alcorn said.

"The state has some legislation governing their practice but I am not thoroughly familiar with it. I would say we had our hands full right now with these other fellows."

"The power held by the grand jury gives it a wide scope in which to act. It is found that others have violated the law in any way, we have the opportunity now to stop them and they will be stopped."

From a circular of the Naturopathic Health school, which advertises its course on "resurrection" at $36, the following paragraphs were taken:

"Unbelievable as it may seem,
this school instructs how, by simple scientific procedure, to restore any classes of dead persons to life."

"There are three great fields of restorative action.
"One is low powered and is capable of dealing successfully with the majority of sickness and disease and restoring only some recently dead to life."

"The next one is of a medium power and has to do largely with common control of circumstances."
And the third is of supreme res-

Coolidge to Place Bonus Under Ban In Tax Message to Solons

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—President Coolidge will tell congress and the country that only on certain definite conditions can taxes be lowered in the coming congress, it was announced today.

These conditions include strict observance of the budget system in making appropriations and the elimination of the soldier bonus from present consideration unless some means is found for financing it.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Controller of the Currency Dawes are now drafting for the president a "financial message" to congress to accompany the budget which will be submitted on the opening day of congress.

Kills 184 Men By Shock; To See Kels Hang

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—
E. J. Black, executioner at Sing Sing prison, who has turned on the current for the electric chair which has sent 184 men to their deaths, today accepted an invitation to witness a hanging.

"I'm here to forget," Black said, explaining that he came West to drive from his mind the memories of the things he has seen.

"But," he added, "only once have I seen a man hanged. Perhaps I can gain something by seeing another."

He will witness the hanging of Alex Kels at Folsom, Calif., penitentiary in January, he said.

COURT BACKS GOVERNOR IN BUDGET ROW

Decision of Supreme Judges Victory for Richardson In Suit of Will C. Wood.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—
The state supreme court today denied the application of Will C. Wood for a rehearing of his suit to annul the veto of Governor Friend William Richardson to certain provisions of the budget bill.

It was understood Wood plans to carry the case to the federal courts.

The provision involved gave one per cent of the state normal school funds into Woods' control as state superintendent of schools for administrative purposes.

Daughter of Earl In Plea For Needlework

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The daughter of the Earl of Strathmore, who last spring married a wireless operator on a British liner, is not finding her new life as easy as the one she had lived under her father's roof, according to a statement she made to the Daily Express and is seeking employment as a needlewoman to make ends meet.

The young bride, who before she married Owen McKenna, was Lady Pleasance Elizabeth Rous, is quoted as saying that she has never been happier than since her marriage, but that she wants to earn money "to face the heavy demands of these days."

She therefore appeals to her friends to give her needlework orders to help her "get a home and this achieved she plans to start in business as a dressmaker."

Young Millionaire On Stage, But As Footman

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—New Yorkers, by paying $1.10 to $3.30, are enabled to envision a young millionaire in the way of achieving his life's ambition by playing the role of a footman who displays a shapely calf.

J. Borden Harriman, Wall Street czar and nephew of kings in the sugar and railroad worlds, is appearing nightly in his first stage role on Broadway. He has a humble part, that of a servant in the court of a queen, but he glories in it and is not embarrassed or resentful because this necessitates the display of silkstockinged lower limbs.

He admits society friends may poke fun at his role, but then one must expect that when one refuses to join papa in Wall street in order that one may gratify one's ambition to go on the stage.

and Dawes will form the basis of the president's taxation comments. While it is unlikely he will go into much detail in the budget message on the tax question, it was learned he intends to make these points:

1. That the country has shown itself, as evidenced by the reaction to the Mellon tax reduction plan, a strong desire for tax reduction.

2. That he believes such tax reduction entirely possible.

3. That it is up to congress to make it possible by keeping appropriations within the budget and not passing "supplemental and extraordinary expenditure bills."

4. That there can be no tax reduction if there is a soldier bonus.

COPY OF NEW RUM TREATY IS READY

British Draft of Twelve-Mile Limit Pact Received at Embassy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The British draft of the proposed liquor treaty between the United States and Great Britain will be presented to the state department some time today, it is understood here today.

The draft proposed by the British government and instructions covering its presentation to Washington are said to have been received here at the British embassy.

An agreement between the United States and Great Britain on the treaty virtually has been concluded.
Because of the possibility of a last minute hitch, both governments are refusing to comment until the treaty is actually signed.

One question still under discussion is how the traditional three mile limit at sea is to be extended for the purpose of the treaty. It is not known whether the pact will name 12 miles or extend the limit by some other phrase.

The treaty is to have two main features:

1. To permit British ships to carry liquor under seal into American waters.

2. To extend the right of search at sea beyond three miles to permit the United States more adequately to combat rum runners.

The pact is expected, however, to reaffirm the traditional three mile limit for the purpose of ordinary international customs.

Darkness Hits Tomb Of Hero First Time

PARIS, Nov. 23.—The light over the tomb of the Unknown Soldier under the Arc de Triomphe went unlighted for the first time since the inauguration of the custom. A delegation of fathers and mothers had assembled to light the torch of memory, but were unable to do so through the failure of the arrival of persons with the necessary materials for providing the light.

Young Wife Leaves Husband; Takes Drug

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—
Following a quarrel with her husband, Mrs. Eleanor Dade, 25, left her home in Westwood, Cal., and came to San Francisco, where she swallowed poison in her room at 17 Powell street. Her condition is regarded as serious by physicians at the Central Emergency hospital, to which she was removed. She had registered at the hotel from Syracuse, N. Y. Questioned by the police, she said she had become despondent through trouble with her husband, E. O.
Dade.

"30" BULLETINS

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Nov. 23.—
The tangled marital skein involving Jeanne Carleton, charged jointly with her husband, Edward Carleton, with the murder of Special Officer Robert Magee, was unraveled here this afternoon with the discovery that the girl's former marriage was annulled in Santa Ana fifteen months ago. Proof that she is legally wed to Carleton will prevent introduction of her confession in the trial, and the district attorney's office admitted it is without definite permissible evidence to dis-prove Carleton's statement that a man named "Jack" fired the fatal shot.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 23.—Gov.
Hunt of Arizona today received a message from Governor Friend W.
Richardson of California, refusing to participate in the proposed tri-state conference regarding the Colorado river basin water settlement.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 23.—
Mrs. Helen Steep, whose two lectures here against Catholicism ended in riotous outbreaks was arrested today on charge of distributing obscene literature.

CHARGES DESERTION

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 23.— Following on the heels of the settlement made in the $100,000 Mohn-Tingley alienation of affections suit, Dr. George F. Mohn today filed suit for divorce against Mrs. Irene M. Mohn, alleging she deserted him in 1918.

Jury Indicts Walton For Diversion of State Cash

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 23.—J. C. Walton, former governor of Oklahoma, was indicted today by a county grand jury on charges of diversion of state funds, illegal prevention of an attempted meeting of the state legislature and attempts to intimidate an officer.

The former governor was accused in seven counts, six or which were filed in district court and the seventh in county court.

Dr. A. E. Davenport, state health commissioner and T. P. Edwards, formerly Walton's chauffeur, were indicted jointly with the impeached governor.

Bond for Walton was set at $6000 in district court and $75 on the count in county court. He was prepared to make bond.

Bond for Edwards and Davenport was set at $1000 each.

The senate today continued long drawn debate over proposed anti Ku Klux Klan bills. Strenuous opposition was raised by many legislators over provisions of a bill which would force all secret organizations to file membership lists with the secretary of state.

SPEED PLANS FOR STOKES TRIAL IN CONSPIRACY CASE

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Steps toward the criminal prosecution of W.
E. D. Stokes, millionaire clubman, on an indictment charging conspiracy to defame the reputation of his wife, Helen Elwood Stokes, were taken today by Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Wharton.

Wharton's action followed telegrams from Mrs. Stokes to Charles E. Erbshten, her Chicago attorney, instructing him to proceed with the litigation.

Mrs. Stokes denied in the telegrams that she could not prosecute her husband, despite the $750,000 separate maintenance settlement in New York.

An early trial date will be set,
Wharton told the United Press before going into conference with State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe.

Stokes is under $5,000 bond for his appearance here. It will not be necessary to extradite him, Wharton believes.

DRIVER PURSUES MAN HIS AUTOMOBILE HIT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Ascension Winglee, dishwasher in the Hotel Paris on Third street, was running from Clinton park into Valencia street when an automobile struck him. He picked himself up without a word and
auley, 64 Mars street, driver of the machine, fearing to desert the victim of his automobile, pursued Winglee for two blocks, seized him and took him to the Central Emergency hospital.

Autoist Forces 'Cop' Off Road; Fined $25

TULARE, Nov. 23.—Ray Ford, driving an automobile with a Kansas number plate, made a costly mistake when he forced the car of "Red" Tyler, Tulare city traffic officer, onto the Southern Pacific tracks south of here on the highway at the famous "Death Curve."

Tyler then forced Ford to appear before Police Judge Snow, and he was fined $25 for reckless driving.

Baby Is Burned To Death in Its Buggy

UKIAH, Nov. 23.—An infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George Romacavara of Pudding creek was burned to death. The baby was in its carriage in the yard and a brother of the little victim, in some manner, lit a match and threw it into the baby buggy. Before anyone could get to the burning buggy the baby was burned to death.

Sailors Quit Ships For Try At Movies

BALTIMORE, Nov. 23.—Ship captains operating to the California coast have a crew to pick with the motion picture industry. They say that because of the numerous desertions of young men from their vessels at San Pedro they generally have to return to Baltimore short-handed. The hands quit to go to Hollywood.

Captain John Martin of the steamship Venetia said:
"It is a wretched state of af-airs. If we sign a good-looking, well set up, young ordinary seaman, or mess boy, it is a pretty sure shot that he will desert as soon as he gets to San Pedro and go to Hollywood for a chance to enter the moving pictures."

"In fact, it is getting so that we take it for granted that if we enlist a new man, he is just joining the ship to get a chance to go to Hollywood. I am skeptical about any young fellow unless he has a face that only a mother could love.
Even then he might quit the ship and try to get in on a comedy."

COOLIDGE IN PEACE MOVE OVER POST

Tangle In South Carolina
Ironed Out By Latest
Executive Move

(By United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—President Coolidge is actively "building fences" for 1924.

Avoiding the spectacular, he is following methods of personal campaigning which brought him earliest prominence in Massachusetts politics.

At one stroke today, the president killed off a problem which might have caused him trouble in the senate and gave aid and comfort to Republicans in the south where a vigorous effort is to be made in 1924 to take advantage of an expected division of Democratic strength by Mc-Adoo and Underwood.

Coolidge accepted the resignation of Joseph W. Tolbert as United States marshal for western South Carolina and in return for Tolbert's retirement appointed three Republicans to federal jobs in Tolbert's district.

Tolbert is national Republican committeeman for South Carolina. President Harding gave him a recess appointment as marshal. Senator Dial, South Carolina Democrat, fought confirmation and succeeded in holding it up. If Mr. Coolidge had sent the nomination back, Dial would have continued his fight.

The president's action in the Tolbert case is understood here to have been influenced by C.
Bascom Siemp, his secretary, a Virginia Republican, whose advice Mr. Coolidge is taking in political matters.

Within recent weeks the president has personally taken a hand in several efforts to iron out troubles which might adversely affect his candidacy. Ohio was one, he had Robert Wolfe of Columbus to lunch with him at the White House in an effort to patch up the old feud between Wolfe and Harry Daugherty, attorney general, so that Ohio Republicans would present a united front. (Copyright 1923, by United Press)

SEIZE JAPS WITH CARGO OF LIQUOR

1800 Bottles of Whisky and Two Trucks Confiscated By Officers After Long Wait.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—
Two Japanese, on their way from Santa Barbara to Los Angeles, were arrested today and 1800 quarts of whisky, being transported in two trucks confiscated by officers.

The officers, having received a tip that the liquor was on the way, had watched the road for the bootleggers. On the point of giving up the watch, the trucks appeared.

INVALID SEES MATE BEATEN TO DEATH

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 23.— Deputies hunted the city today for a masked man who last night killed Duane Chapel, 64, in the presence of his invalid wife, Mrs.
Chapel, unable to move, saw her husband clubbed to death, she told the sheriff. She could not offer a motive for the killing.

Chapel was sleeping on a couch in his home at Maple Plain, near here, when the murderer entered.
Without a word he went to the couch, raised his club and struck his victim, Mrs. Chapel said. As Chapel rolled to the floor the man struck another blow and fled.

Three hours later Guy Chapel, 24, a son, returned home. He found his mother almost unconscious.
Mother and son were housed in the county jail last night and questioned for hours by the sheriff. The woman gave a description of the masked murderer.

Man, 44, Fears Scolds Of His Mother; Hides

BERKELEY, Nov. 23.—A man who, at the age of 44, still fears a scolding by his mother, has been found in Berkeley.

Policeman Frank Waterbury answered a call from South Berkeley that a man was seen to crawl under a house at 1640 Ashby avenue.

Waterbury approached Mrs. Eva Ridley at the Ashby avenue address and told her there was a man under her house, and Waterbury went under the house himself and, at the point of his gun, brought out Bert Ridley, 44. When asked what he was doing under the house, Ridley replied that he was dodging his mother. Mrs. Ridley identified the man as her son to prevent his arrest as a burglar suspect.

Boy Suffers Skull Fracture On 'Grid'

Elmore Squires, 19, son of U. E.
Squires of Olive, was at the Community hospital here today with a fractured skull.

The injury was sustained late yesterday, it was said, while the youth was playing football at the local junior college. He was brought unconscious to the hospital, where an operation was performed at 8 p. m.

Reports from the hospital today stated that the youth was resting well.

Fresno Told City Too Self Centered

FRESNO, Nov. 23.—Fresno and Sacramento, as the capital cities of the two great inland valleys of California, are too self-centered,
Joseph C. Burke, United States District Attorney, who is attending sessions of the United States Court here, told members of the University Club at a meeting yesterday.

"This is a tale of unrequited love—involving Trixie Friganza, actress, and her corn doctor."

Dr. Gabor Koenigstein, San Francisco chiropodist, six times married and divorced and now looking for his seventh wife, is the "man in the case."

Let him tell it.
"Trixie has beautiful feet," explained Dr. Koenigstein.
"For so long a woman her her feet is magnificent."
"She had one corns—one teeny-weeny corns."
"She came to me to fix it."
"Now I got a great way with feet."

"I would have tickled her toes but she was my customer and I don't tickled customers' toes."

"But I cured her corn and she smiled. She hadn't smiled before."

"I likes smiles. She knows how to smiles. She would make a good wife. She would make me laugh at breakfast."

"So I proposed to her."
"She said, 'No, no.' So I isn't marrying her."

"But gosh, she has pretty feet."

160 GERMANS DEAD IN SEPARATIST RIOTING

DUSSELDORF, Nov. 23.—One hundred and sixty Rhineland Separatists were killed and six hundred wounded in Saturday's fighting, German newspapers announce.
As a result of defeats the Separatist chiefs decided to disband their forces, limiting their activities to maintaining control in cities already occupied.

ESSEN COMMUNISTS IN CLASH WITH POLICE

PARIS, Nov. 23.—Ten thousand communists massed in the streets of Essen battled with police today, according to advices from French sources. A policeman was killed and twenty workers were seriously injured.

Doctors Hold Hope For 1 Pound Baby

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 23.—
A fluffy ball of softest cotton kept Marie Rogers, 20-day old, one pound baby, warm today as she battled for her tiny life.

Believing baby clothes might chafe the tender skin or exert pressure on the soft bones of the child, the physicians ordered her covered with only a cocoon of warm cotton.

For the first time since birth a tinge of color crept into Marie's cheeks today.
She did weakly and physicians looked upon this as a hopeful sign that she may live.

The 15-year old mother is recovering slowly from a four-months illness of typhoid malaria.

WILL HOLD RUHR FOR PAYMENT

French Premier Stirs Deputies by Attack on Hohenzollerns

SPEECH BRINGS OUT
ROUND OF APPLAUSE

Calls For United Action By Allies In Upholding
Peace Pact

BERLIN, Nov. 23.—The government of Chancellor Stresemann was overthrown tonight. After the Reichstag had refused to give a vote of confidence in the policies of the administration, the cabinet members formally presented their resignations to President Ebert.
Ebert accepted them.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—"It is intolerable to the peace of Europe that the ill-fated dynasty of the Hohen-zollerns should be restored," Premier Poincaré shouted at the climax of a stirring speech in the chamber this afternoon.

Deputies rose as one man.
They climbed onto their seats and stood cheering themselves hoarse. The chamber was a bedlam of sound and Poincaré, smiling broadly, could not proceed.

When the din had died down a bit, the premier explained significantly:

"Our allies will know tonight that we are unanimous."
Bedlam broke loose when Poincaré declared:

"For our security we intend to consolidate our positions in the Ruhr."

"We will not evacuate until the reparations have been paid in full."

Other high spots in the speech, one of the most striking Poincaré yet has made, a speech which breathed the martial spirit of France and gave no indications of conciliation, came when the prime minister said:

1. France is willing to resume negotiations for an Anglo-French alliance, but must be assured of military aid if necessary arises.

2. Chancellor Stresemann "attacked the truth" when he intimated the products of the Ruhr are going to France and Belgium alone; they are divided among all the allies.

Poincaré's greatest moment when he swayed the chamber was an ecstasy of applause came when he cried that Germany has not changed and attacked the Hohen-zollerns.

"The date when the Crown Prince comes for his return reported that return doubly insupportable," he exclaimed.

"We must prefer that the German prince be extradited or banished forever, he continued. It is necessary that the allies act together and maintain the treaty of

Hayward Hunter Gets Mired in Quicksand

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Joseph Brannon, Hayward business man and former police and traffic officer there, underwent a terrifying experience during the week-end. Harold Johnson, San Leandro traffic officer, and Brandon were in Haines canyon hunting quail, when the latter hit off at a tangent following a covey. Watching the birds he walked into an area of quicksand, and before he realized his predicament had sunk one foot almost to the knee. Efforts to dislodge himself enmired him more. Frantic calls for Johnson brought his companion on the run, and after considerable effort Brandon was freed. He had sunk almost to his waist.

SEIZE BEER CARGO

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Prohibition agents seized a truckload of beer landed at Half Moon Bay, south of here, early today. Henry Bettencourt and Jack Barrett were arrested. A boat, believed to have landed the liquor, slipped out to sea before it could be caught.

AD WRITING IN SMALL TOWN, MEET TOPIC

Merchants of Santa Ana do a business equal to $20 per capita of population as against $5 per capita by Los Angeles business houses, according to a declaration made today by Jack Carter, with the Orange County Imitation works, in a two-minute address before the Advertising club at its meeting at St. Ann's Inn.

He made the assertion, and said he could back it up with statistics, during discussion on the subject of "Opportunity of the Advertiser in a Small Town." He pointed to many ways in which the ad writer in the smaller community has an advantage over the man who writes copy in the larger cities.

"Regularity in Advertising" was discussed by Fred Newcomb of Newcomb's Shoe store. Pointing out that regular ringing of a church bell by a church serves to continuously remind the member of his obligation to attend church, Newcomb said that regularity in advertising was necessary to any business to keep the character and quality of merchandise, and location of store constantly before prospective purchasers. He declared the successful merchants are those who continuously present their merchandise through the medium of a newspaper.

Advertising has all the attributes of merchandising, said H. G. Larrick, advertising manager for the Barr Lumber company, in talking on "Buying Advertising." He said good advertising was equal in importance to the buying of merchandise. He left with his auditors the thought that advertising is essential to success and that merchants should consider it just as important as maintenance of stock.

"Advertising Writing and Reporting," was assigned to Horace Pine of The Register Staff. Pointing out that few advertising writers could hold positions as managing editors, because of lack of training in this branch of newspaper work, Pine said that on the reverse reporters could become writers of advertisements and probably would make greater success than a man who develops into the ad writing field without newspaper reporting experience. Knowledge of the demands of the local field, familiarity with the merchandise, the uses to which it may be applied and brevity in presenting the merits of an article, were requirements to success in preparing copy, he said.

B. E. Switzer, with the Rankin Dry Goods Company, discussed "Quoting Prices in Detail." Pointing out that in the past advertising writers had stressed comparative prices, he said that today the writers are eliminating the comparative price and using but the present selling quotation. He declared that, in a measure, comparative, or mark-down prices, have a tendency to cause distrust on the part of the public. Declaring that it is impossible for any merchant to buy exclusive goods that will move in full each year, Switzer said that establishment of "base price bargains" is the result of recognition by big merchants of the fallacy of attempting to sell, long with moving merchandise, merchandise out of date or of inferior quality by comparing a new selling price with the price quoted when the merchandise was seasonable.

Announcing that the membership of the club is now 65, W. D. Rudd, president, said he hoped to see the roster boosted to 100 by the first of the year.

Oriyn Robertson, of the Robertson Electric company, announced that he would offer a prize to be awarded at the next meeting to some one of the members who may bring in the application of new members. Rudd added to this an offer of a prize to the individual member bringing in the largest number of applications.

A committee was authorized to develop and report at the next meeting plans for conducting a contest on ad writing, with copy

General's Insignia Is Presented Marine

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Five years ago E. C. Parry, then a soldier in France, saw a forest green coat, bearing the insignia of a general's rank, lying by a roadside.

"Here's a German general's uniform," he cried to his buddy. "Let's take the insignia home for a souvenir."

He cut away the braid from the sleeves. The coat, however, was that of General W. C. Neville of the United States marine corps. Parry was arrested by a marine orderly taken before General Neville and reprimanded.

But Parry has the insignia today. For General Neville arrived in San Francisco yesterday and the first thing he did was to hunt out Parry and presented it to him.

Yacht Frontiersman Lands in "Poorhouse"

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—A proud little yacht, The Frontiersman, ended its adventurous career in the poorhouse today.

Built 43 years ago for the King of Spain and finished with gold brocade, the now dingy craft was sold for $2450, ending the cruise of a party of British adventures who started out to sail around the world.

A group of young British ex-service men bought the yacht after the war, in which it was sunk as a submarine patrol, for some $15,000, to make a world cruise. The Frontiersman was libelled here, and the crew was unable to meet the debts.

of the best advertisements submitted to be printed in the club paper. Criticism of the copy will be made at meetings.

SOLON DECIDES NOT TO KEEP 'OLD BOSS'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Mag-nus Johnson won't keep a cow. Neither will he have chickens. He has decided to buy a Ford instead.

The new senator from Minnesota made known his decision today, as he announced he had found a house for his family.

It is a six-room bungalow in Takoma Park, Maryland, just across the District of Columbia line. There are trees all around it. It is an ultra modern little home with an open fireplace in the living room, a quick and span tiled bath and "all modern conveniences."

The interior woodwork is finished in ivory white. There is a "play room" on the second floor for the two Johnson children.

"Yes, it is a little different from the farm house in Minnesota," said Johnson. "That is one reason I got it. Mrs. Johnson wanted to keep a cow and chickens. But I decided she needed a rest from all that for a while. Later on maybe. But no cow and no chickens now. I'm going to buy a Ford instead."

Mrs. Johnson, who started house hunting with the idea of getting something as nearly like the Minnesota farm house, as possible, is delighted with the bungalow, Senator Johnson said.

"It will be a good place to rest," he went on. "I can get in town in a short time and when I get through in the senate and go home it will be pleasant on account of the farm."

SAVING OF ORCHARD WATER IS EXPLAINED

OAKDALE, Nov. 23.—By a new method of irrigation and sub-soling, M. T. Langstroth successfully demonstrated the past season that water could be greatly conserved and fruit trees benefited thereby. Langstroth was before the Oakdale irrigation district board a day or so ago and detailed the system he used the past year on his sixty-five-acre fig orchard near Riverbank.

He irrigated his trees but once this season, yet they are doing better than ever before, and incidentally much better than other trees which were irrigated three or four times during the season.

Langstroth told the board that in June, when water was plentiful, he uses a sub-soller on his orchard, running a furrow four feet on each side of the tree rows, and about fourteen inches deep. Into these furrows he let water trickle for three or four days, using a two-inch metal pipe to bring it from the ditch. He was allowed a one-half foot flow for three weeks by the ditch tender. On the sub-soller were wings which broke up the soil on either side, but below the surface. No water was allowed up on the surface. Langstroth stated that the water soaked almost all the way across the thirty-foot rows between the trees.

Johnson moves in tomorrow. The family was all excited today about the new home. Johnson is going to help get settled. He didn't buy the bungalow. "No. I just rented it," he said. "Later on, I may decide I want a farm."

it hurts to reduce prices on such suits

THERE was a lot of pleasure in buying them—they are so very new and such good values at their regular prices of $27.50, $30, $35, $40 and $45. But there is too much money tied up in them for my comfort. If it hadn't been for the full line of Fashion Park I bought when the agency was given me, all would have been lovely. It's positively disgraceful and undignified to reduce them so much—just look at these three prices:

$32

THEY'RE all Rochester-made clothes—the very same clothes that was helping to get my store noised around town as just about the slickest place alive in which to get values. Understand, I'm tickled to death to have men buy Fashion Park—but you see I stocked up on these others before Fashion Park came my way recently. Now, they've got to be thinned out. It's your funeral, more so than mine, however, if you miss out on this chance.

Your child is always your child; it matters not whether thousands of miles separate you. Your child is as truly your child when it nestles in the arms of Jesus and enters the newfound life with Him. Nothing can really separate you.
When you go Home you will claim your own, and

News Briefs

P. S. Lucas, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association here, today issued a statement which read in part as follows:
"Thanksgiving day comes next week, on Thursday, November 29, and as per our usual custom, it being a national and legal holiday, the board of directors recommends that all places of business close all day."

Members of the Orange County Choral union, who will take part in "Robin Hood," famous De Koven opera to be presented here in January, will assemble tonight at the high school auditorium for rehersal. It had been erroneously announced that the rehearsal would be held last night.

County officials who attended the annual duck banquet given by the boosters of the National Orange show at San Bernardino last evening were Supervisors S. H. Finley, William Schumacher and George Jeffrey, County Clerk J. M. Backs, Assessor James Sleeper, Sheriff
Sam Jernigan, J. L. McBride, highway superintendent, and Dr. H.
E. Zaiser, county hospital superintendent. The dinner marks the opening of the campaign for the fourteenth annual show.

been awarded the plumbing, sheet metal and finish hardware con-

Ana. J. L. McFadden said, adding that work already has been started.

M. R. Hunter, engineer for the railroad commission, spent the afternoon in Santa Ana today going over the grade crossing situation with A. M. Stanley, secretary-manager of the Orange county farm bureau, in response to a request from Stanley. Chief among cross-

Dogs Officially Rated Best Burglar Safeguard

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Bow-wow-wow! Great rejoicing in dogdom! The local ope of an eastern insurance company broadcast throughout the United States an official recognition of the value of the dog as the "original burglar alarm," and announced that anyone owning and keeping a canine on his or her premises will get a reduction of 10 per cent on the premium required on burglary insurance. Secretary McCurrie of the San Francisco Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has been finding homes for approximately fifty homeless dogs a month and now expects an increase.

RAIL OFFICIALS' SQUABBLE

TOPEKA, Nov. 21.—An official row in Moran, Allen county, has reached the public utilities commission. The city clerk has informed the commission that the Katy railroad station is badly heated and lighted and is infested with hoboes. The Katy superintendent at Parsons, S. B. Moore, has responded that Moran fails to give the Katy police protection against hoboes and casually comments that maybe it is because the mayor of Moran is the agent for the Missouri Pacific, the competitor of the Katy at that point.

BULLET PARTS HAIR

GALVESTON, Nov. 21.—The life of Adolpho Giusti, soft drink dealer, was saved by the quick action of his wife in giving him a shove just as a quarrelsome customer shot at him. A second shot, however, parted his pompadour hair exactly in the middle by plowing a furrow along his scalp. The newspapers say "a man was arrested" for firing the shot, not naming him on account of the drastic character of the Texas libel law.

Victim Struck Twice By Same Auto in Half Hour

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—What is believed to be a record in automobile accidents was claimed yeslice he was twice struck by the same automobile within a half

Eighteenth avenue and East Twelfth street. He was cut and bruised.

to the hospital. At Second avenue and East Twelfth street, the Wil-figured in the first accident, and again the driver failed to stop, according to police reports.

round trip to Portland, Oreland, where Mrs. Neff's only brother, C.
A. Marshall and her two sisters,
Mrs. Frank H. Scott and Mrs. C. J.
Douglass, reside.
Mr. and Mrs. Neff will leave Los Angeles Sunday evening over the Southern Pacific for an indefinite stay in the north.

Mr. and Mrs. Neff were married in Fremont, Nabr., November 30, 1873, later going to Scribner where
Mr. Neff was in the harness business for many years. It was here their son Nat H. Neff and their daughters, May, Carrie and Helen were born. They moved to Santa Ana in 1912.

Those present last night were their son, Nat H. Neff and Mrs.
Neff and the three daughters, Mrs.
Barry McPhee of Santa Ana; Mrs.
W. B. Dennis of Orange and Mrs.
Carrie Wilkinson of Los Angeles together with Mr. McPhee and Mr.
Dennis.

Grandchildren were Mr. and Mrs.
Roy Couch, Natalie and Betty Neff, Joy, Shirley and Barry McPhee Jr. of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Duff Lee Dean, Orange; while great-grand children were Marjorie and Raymond Couch and Wallace Lee Dean.

It was a matter of much regret that Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McCune and Leo Kimbrough, grand-children of Los Angeles were unable to be present.

Local Thespians Will Give One-Act Play At "Our Village"

One of the events of the holiday season which local folks are anteipating, will be the dramatic evening sponsored by the Laguna Beach players at their theater in
"Our Village."

For the Players and their director, Madame Anne Dare have planned to present, on the night of December 21, three one-act plays and have asked Santa Ana Community Players to give one of the numbers.

In response to the invitation, the local group will offer "The Sweetmeat Game" by Ruth Comfort Mitchell, as being particularly appropriate to the season. The play is a whimsical bit, the action taking place in San Francisco's Chinatown on New Year's eve.

Gladys Simpson Shafer, remembered for her two big successes as Pierrette in "The Maker of Dreams" and in the title role of "Good Gracious Annabelle," and Arthur Collins, the "Maker of Dreams" himself, will take the leads while supporting them will be Burr Shafer, also prominent in Community Players affairs and little Miss Marguerite Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Taylor.

Robert Gerwing, who has assisted Ernest Crozier Phillips in directing practically all of the Santa Ana Community Players' successes and now occupied with the cast for "R.
U. R." scheduled for early December production, will direct "The Sweetmeat Game." In fact rehearsals are already under way, a stage having been erected at the warehouse of the Taylor cannery, where the cast assembles at the call of Mr. Gerwing.

Society Brand Clothes

The New Stripes —are the Berkley and Lanark stripes; exclusive, new and smart. In Society Brand color harmonies they are instantly distinguished from all others.

Bluish Gray

The latest color in men's suits is the new Bluish Gray; the effect is most pleasing. It is found in the two-button "Whirl" model in an overplaid, at $50.

The Cut is the Whole Story

It's the cut that makes the suit or the overcoat. Tastes in fabric differ; you may prefer a blue, brown or gray tone; a rough or smooth finish. But the clothes are smart only if the cut is correct.

Two Models

Society Brand leaders are the "Whirl", a two-button, close-fitting model; and the D'Orsay, a three-button modified English style, possessing the loose, easy English effect.

The D'Orsay is a Society Brand semi-fitted model different from any you will see. The difference is in the cut. The suppression at the waist, the full chested effect, the narrower sleeve—these give the smart air to be found nowhere else.

The cut is the big thing today—it is the whole story in the loose, easy lines adapted from the English. The Society Brand cut gives a smart air equalled only in the product of a few expensive custom tailors.

A Variety

In Society Brand, the widest range of fabric—always correctly cut, at $50, $55 and $60

Most Brilliant Event Of the Season Was The Charity Ball

For the third time, Orange county Nobles of the Mystic Shrine have scored a distinct success in their Christmas Charity ball. In fact last night's function at St. Ann's Inn, presented for the cause of "the greatest of these," was declared by those who gathered to dance, to surpass in brilliancy anything of the kind ever presented in the city.

Little attempt at decoration was made other than the flowers which graced the lobby. The vividly colored gowns of the ladies, the brilliant lights offered sufficient decorative effect in themselves.

It was a happy and most friendly crowd that shortly after 8:30 o'clock formed for the grand march which opened the festivities and which was led by Noble D. Eymann Huff, president of the Orange County Shrine club, and Mrs. Huff.

Gowned in a silvery costume of platinum gray lace over georgette, with silver slippers and a silver band encircling her head, Mrs. Huff was a gracious and charming hostess as she greeted arriving guests at the side of the hall. A conservative estimate placed the crowd at 300, despite which fact, the floor was not too crowded to make dancing comfortable. The Chapman orchestra of eight pieces, with Mrs. Chapman at the piano, seemed to outdo its usual excellence if possible and encores were granted generously.

Santa Claus, masquerading as R. L. Bisby, was very much in evidence and carried delightful gifts for all present in the form of a program whose numbers were interspersed with the dances.

Miss Geraldine Rodriguez was charming in her varied offerings, and, to her own guitar accompaniment, sang "La Golondrina" and a second lovely Spanish song. Later in the evening she danced her way still further into the hearts of those present by her graceful interpretations of Spanish dances. Her pretty costume with its silver bodice and vivid red pleated skirt, her dainty high-heeled slippers, the red rose in her black hair and the beating castanets all added to the charm of her dance. Jack King of the Pantages circuit was a decided favorite in his songs and character impersonations. His conception of the manner in which men of different races would sing "Yoo-Hoo" was especially popular. "Sweet Irish Mother of Mine" was another decided favorite.

The introduction of Madame Manuela V. Budrow brought a storm of applause, for Madame Budrow has endeared herself to Santa Ana since her residence here, and her richly beautiful voice was never in finer form than last night. With Miss Mabel Woodworth of Garden Grove as her expert accompanist, she first sang the aria "O Mio Farnando," from Donizetti's opera, "La Favorita" following the brilliant number by "The Mocking Bird" whose composer, Josephine Johnston, had dedicated the song to her.

But it was in the tenderly lilting "Serenata" Madame Budrow's own composition, that she scored the greatest success, perhaps. Later on the program she delighted again with Josephine Johnston's "Spanish Conquest" and "Marcheta." Mrs. Elmer Heidt playing a violin obligato for the latter.

The grand piano used on the occasion had been loaned by the Orange County Piano company, while the Santa Ana Transfer company had assumed the task of delivering the instrument safely to the inn, all for "sweet charity."

Throughout the evening, iced fruit punch was served in the private dining room of the inn where Mrs. Schweiger, wife of the manager, was in charge.

Parent-Teachers

The P. T. A. song and the usual flag salute were featured in the opening exercises of Jefferson P. T. A. yesterday afternoon, and after the business session a pleasing program was opened by 4A and 6B classes in songs and music.

"Safety First" was the theme of a splendid short talk by Mac Robbins, who was followed by D. K. Hammond, principal of Poly high school, in a pertinent talk on the duty of citizens to future generations of school children in preparing for the schools and their equipment.

A round table on the Law of Duty was presented, Mrs. W. R. Sylvester speaking on "The Duty of Families as Citizens;" Mrs. A. V. Herr on "The Duty of Parents and Children in the Home;" and Miss Bertha Barclay, principal of the school, on "Parents and Children's Duties in the Schools."

During the social hour, tea and wafers were served by a committee headed by Mrs. Fay Spangler.

Past Matrons

Mrs. H. H. Reeves, Mrs. John A. Harvey and Miss Pauline Reinhaus will be hostesses to members of the Past Matrons' association of Hermosa chapter, O. E. S. at a 1 o'clock luncheon, scheduled for Tuesday, November 27.

The event will be at the Masonic temple and each member is requested to be prepared to give her favorite quotation in answer to roll-call.

Teacher of Harp

Fraternal Brotherhood

Santa Ana lodge, Fraternal Brotherhood met last night with a good attendance, with President P. A. Tricky in charge. Miss Alberta Graham was initiated. It was decided not to meet next week as the date falls on Thanksgiving. The following week will be social night for members and friends.

A few members left for Anaheim lodge where their big open night social attracted a fine crowd. Music was furnished by Leon Sargent, James Hayes and Miss Florence McQueen, of Santa Ana. Refreshments were served by the social committee, Mrs. Eva Boyde, chairman.

Buckeye Maid Shares Her Birthday With Native Daughter

A little daughter of Ohio, Miss Martha Jane Dowling, recently arrived to spend the winter in Santa Ana and a guest with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dowling, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Noe, was made very happy yesterday by a birthday party in which she shared honors with Miss Beryl Berry of Whittier.

The affair was a delightful dinner which Mr. and Mrs. Noe presented in the evening at their beautiful new home, 2121 Greenleaf street. The little Buckeye maid had reached her fifth birthday while the Native Daughter boasted just double that number of years. In their honor, the pretty table was decked with Cecil Brunner buds and pink and white candles.

At the close of the course dinner two beautiful birthday cakes were brought in, one bearing five gleaming candles, and one with ten. The white cake was adorned with pink candles while on the pink frosted cake were white ones.

Following the dinner, everyone enjoyed the pleasure of the children in their many pretty gifts and the remainder of the evening was given over to music and friendly chat.

Mr. and Mrs. Noe's guests included in addition to the two youthful honorees, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lankford, Mr. and Mrs. John Dowling, recent arrivals from Marietta, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Berry and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kimmick of Whittier.

Local Dance Teacher Directs Films

Of much interest to friends and patrons of Mrs. Maude Putnam whose dancing classes of approximately twenty-five members are among the established features of the city, was the knowledge of her activities in directing dances for the screen at the Pickford studios in Hollywood.

Mrs. Putnam was called upon last week to direct a Maypole dance in which twenty children (her own dance pupils) in dainty costumes, took part as a scene in the filming of "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" which "America's Sweetheart," Mary Pickford, is now preparing.

In addition to the Maypole dance, Mrs. Putnam directed twenty-four principals of the cast in the stately figures of the minuet, not only drilling them in the steps but, armed with the megaphone, actually directing their work as the cameras clicked. Among the dancers was Miss Eleanor Putnam, her daughter who is one of the ladies waiting to the queen, in the story.

The scenes were all taken for the party which lovers of the book will remember was given for the lovely Dorothy. In the Maypole dance, the pole was surmounted by the English coat of arms of the Haddons and 250 yards of heavy four-inch ribbon was used.

Maccabees

Pleasant companionship and friendly hospitality marked the recent gathering of the Woman's Benefit Association of the Maccabees at the home of Mrs. A. Schlansman, 1201 West Fifth street.

An excellent luncheon at noon was enjoyed after which a grab-bag gave much entertainment to all the guests. The afternoon was devoted to needlework and chat, while a radio concert was an interesting feature arranged by Mrs. Schlansman's daughter, Mrs. Towner.

Enjoying the all-day event were Mesdames Katie Peters, Anne Towner, Florence Somerville, May Curtis, Luella Mosher, Belle Alderman, Sue Spencer, Lovisa Leslie, Carolina Drickson, Sarah House, Brackney, Sarah Ostott, Etta Ericks, Maggie Erickson, Lucinda Hamilton, Ivy Olson, Margaret Culver, Mrs. Black and Mrs. Miller of Pennsylvania, Mrs. Kimball of Texas, Mrs. Callahan of Anaheim and the hostess, Mrs. Schlansman.

W. C. T. U.

Tuesday afternoon, November 27 at 2 o'clock, W. C. T. U. members will have the opportunity of enjoying a social affair when the north section will be entertained at the home of Mrs. G. J. Mosbaugh, 636 North Broadway, and the south section at the home of Mrs. George Klever, 221 Cypress street.

Members are asked to remember the date and make an effort to be present that all may become better acquainted. A generous silver offering is also asked to aid in the support of W. C. T. U. philanthropies, including the Old Ladies' home and the Wayward Girls' home in Los Angeles, and the Home Center for soldiers and sailors at San Diego.

California Glace Fruit, Candied, Crystallized and Dried Fruit, Stuffed Dates, Figs, Almonds, Apricots, Cherries, Oranges, Everything for your Back East Christmas Boxes at the Lion Candy Kitchen.

Calumpit Auxiliary

A spirited and friendly gathering of Calumpit auxiliary folk was that of last Tuesday when Mrs. Nellie Kenny was hostess at her Hickory street home. Members were keenly interested in the reports of the bazaar presented so successfully early in November. A very interesting feature was the reading of a letter from Mrs. Bertha Dixon, popular member and tireless worker in Calumpit affairs, who with Mr. Dixon, adjutant of Calumpit Camp, is now at Cedar Pines in the San Bernardino mountains for a much needed rest and recuperation. Needlework and chat caused the social hour to fly and Mrs. Kenny served appetizing refreshments assisted by Miss Eulalia McComb and Mrs. Shaver, guests of the afternoon. Mrs. Katie Van Valkenberg and Mrs. McDonald were also guests and there were twenty-two members present.

Woman's Bible Class

Warner's

425 North Sycamore

One man insisted that his wife take two dresses instead of one, when he saw the remarkable values offered in the Dress Sale.

"I don't see how you can do it," said one customer, who was amazed at the values offered. We explained the Warner policy of quick turn-over of stock regardless of cost and original selling price.

We believe it is better to sell a dress below cost, if necessary, than to hold on and on until the stock is cluttered up with "ancients".

The warmest November in eight years naturally slipped up the dress business. As a result, our loss is your gain.

As members of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, we believe in "Truth in Advertising." We are sincerely truthful when we say that the Dress Sale offers unusual values.

If Bill Hanley tells the truth about The Register's circulation this message ought to reach 75 women and misses who want dresses.

And they won't be mad because they can save money on their purchases.

But to get down to the facts of the Sale.

The Sizes are mostly 16, 18 and 36.

The Types are street dresses, semi-dressy dresses and some party frocks.

The Colors are black, navy blue, brown and pastel shades in party frocks.

The Fabrics are Canton Crepe, Crepe Reine, Flat Crepe, Georgette, Velveteen, Poiret Twill and Tricotine.

The Former Prices were $29.50 to $50.00.

The Sale Prices are $25.00 and $35.00.

You will be doing a real favor to your friends if you tell them about Warner's Dress Sale.

We don't expect to call out the police to handle the immense crowds but we do suggest that the earlier you get here, the better will be the selection.

Samson once took a column and "brought down the house." Maybe we can do as well with this column.

You read this so now you know that Warner's are having a Dress Sale.

P. S.—Saturday at 10 a. m. an additional group of Wool Jersey, Poiret Twill and Silk Dresses at the unusually low price of $13.75. Also mighty good values.

CALL EXPERTS TO AID HUNT FOR BOMBER

TOLEDO, Ohio, Nov. 23.—Bomb experts were summoned from Chicago and New York today in an attempt to solve the mystery here which has resulted in nine destructive explosions in recent months.

Private homes, churches, apartment houses, automobiles and other property have been wrecked by bombs now believed by police to have been planted by a maniac who escaped recently from a Toledo insane hospital.

City, county and federal officers have joined in the hunt for the dynamiter who sets off his infernal machines and then slips away in the dark depending on the force of the explosion to destroy all clues of his identity.

Calls On State To Observe Thanks Day

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 23.—Governor Richardson today declared Thanksgiving a legal holiday.

"So that the people of the state may thank the Supreme Ruler of the universe for His many blessings and particularly the great blessing of our government, the form and ideals of which insure peace, order and justice, and give every person the right of freedom of speech and freedom of thought to a degree unequalled at any time or in any country in the history of the world," says the proclamation.

MARRIAGE FRAUD IS CLUE

SANTA ROSA, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Belle Alameda of Oakland filed suit here against Manuel Gomez for $100,000 damages. The plaintiff charges that she was led by Gomez to believe that the securing of a marriage license in Oakland, July 15, 1918, was a civil marriage and the first intimation that she was not married came March 15 of this year, when Gomez informed her. She alleges she investigated and discovered August 15 that she was not married, so seeks damages for the wrong alleged to have been inflicted on her.

WOMEN SHOULD ACT QUICKLY
When a woman finds herself afflicted with backache, headaches, nervousness, dragging-down pains, pain in her side, irregularities and irritability, dark circles appear under the eyes and her complexion gets sallow, she may be sure the underlying cause is some ailment peculiar to her sex. Such women should act quickly and take the great American remedy for such conditions, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they may be saved years of suffering. For generations this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring ailing women to health, and it may be relied upon with perfect confidence.—Adv.

Man Disarms Wife Who Shoots At Him

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—William Hunt and his wife, Edna Hunt, were arrested in the home of Hart L. Weaver, 200 Santa Paul avenue. Hunt was charged with battery and his wife was charged with assault with a deadly weapon. The Hunts are colored servants employed in the Weaver home. According to the police, they had a quarrel and Hunt struck his wife. Mrs. Hunt retaliated by getting a pistol and taking a shot at her husband. Her aim was bad and Hunt disarmed his wife. By this time Mr. Weaver arrived on the scene and called in the police.

TWO INDICTED FOR 'DUELING' FOR LOSS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 23.—Two indictments for dueling have been returned by the county grand jury here as one aftermath of the mysterious sinking of a liquor-running schooner.

Thomas Duris, a former prize fighter, and Olaf M. Anderson were indicted yesterday, charged with having fought by appointment, or dueling.

Anderson's brother, John, was one of several persons lost when the steamer John Dwight sank in Vineyard sound last April.

According to police, Anderson accused Duris of being a member of a liquor-running syndicate which operated the John Dwight.

The men agreed to meet in a three-round bout to settle their differences. One of the contestants wore gloves, the other no gloves at all.

BANDITS IN BOBBED HAIR CLEAN STORE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Three bold, mad bandits with bobbied hair and rolled hosiery looted the cash register of the general store at Mission San Jose in Alameda county.

In consequence Miss Babe Connors, 19; Miss Billie Gordon, 21, and Miss Mildred MacWilliams, all living at the St. James hotel in Oakland, tearfully passed the night in the Alameda county jail.

The girls told the police that they had gone to Mission San Jose to visit a friend, whom they failed to find there. They then are said to have visited the general store. One of the girls is alleged to have called the proprietor outside to talk to him while the other two busied themselves with stuffing currency and silver into their handbags from the cash register. The proprietor called the constable when he discovered the robbery and the trio were arrested, and taken to Oakland.

MILLIONAIRE COLONY TO GET JAPANESE

lionaire residents of the exclusive and recently incorporated town of Atherton are up in arms as the result of the first building permit issued by the town's board of trustees. And to add to their discomfort no one knows what to do about it.

When the clean new building permit books were opened for the first time, John Campodonico, commission merchant, 104 Washington street, San Francisco, obtained permission to erect seven houses on an orchard tract he is planting on Littlefield road.

Now the houses are partially completed and, prominent residents declare, Campodonico intends them as residences for Japanese who will labor in his orchards.

Atherton, say its leading citizens, was founded to be the most exclusive settlement in the entire peninsula district, relegating even aristocratic Burlingame to the ranks of the comparatively democratic. Consequently, Campodonico's reported action in housing Japanese laborers right in the heart of the community is viewed with something like horror.

But Campodonico has complied with the state building laws, the permits have been issued, and Atherton, en masse, is wondering what to do about it.

NEW SIZES NOTED IN COLLEGE GIRLS

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The college girl of today is an average of one and three-tenths inches taller than the college girl of 1884. This is shown by statistics compiled at Yassar college by Miss Mabel Newcomer of the economics department. She says the modern girl also weighs more, has a larger waist measurement and even improved lung capacity.

The figures compiled from measurements taken by the department of physical education, show that in the thirty-six years from 1884 to 1920 the weight of girls entering college increased from 123.8 to 125.8 pounds.

From 1884 to 1896 the waist measure dropped from 25 to 22 inches and remained there ten years. Then it began to increase steadily and now is 25 once more.

The physical condition generally has improved, and this is attributed to the large increase of the number of girls taking part in athletics.

Auto Crowded Off Road Drops 60 Feet

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—To fall sixty feet down an embankment and escape with many thrills and a few injuries was the experience of H. U. Callicott, druggist of 465 Ellis street, and Mrs. Viola Hafter, who has a beauty shop at 106 Geary street. The couple, riding in Callicott's machine, was crowded off the road of the Skyline boulevard, near Lake Merced, as they were rounding a curve overhanging the sixty-foot drop. The car turned over several times in its descent, but the occupants were thrown clear. Mrs. Hafter suffered injuries to her right thigh, but Callicott was unhurt.

Autoist Burned in Battle With Flames
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—In a battle with flames that threatened to destroy his automobile after it had caught fire at Anza street and the Great highway, George Lynch, 1438 McAllister street, suffered first, second and third degree burns to his face, head and upper body, according to report to the police last night. Lynch's condition is not serious.

FIRE IN CHURCH FAILS TO STOP MASS SERVICE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Unmindful that the floor was burning beneath their feet, 500 worshippers sat quietly through mass in St. Raphael Church, San Rafael.

Preliminary investigation created the belief that the fire was of incendiary origin, according to Fire Chief D. M. Schneider.

A haze of smoke drifted through the aisles while the prayers continued. As the church gradually filled with the pall, unmistakably different from the soft fragrance of the altar incense, a few anxious worshippers in the rear of the building rose to their feet and slipped out to investigate.

They found that the floor of the church had been on fire for almost half an hour, smoldering and gathering in intensity as Father William Fleming continued with the mass.

After special prayers had been said, Father Fleming's attention was brought to the fire and he immediately began an investigation of its origin. The fire department was called and checked the incipient blaze with chemicals and with little loss to the structure.

Fire Chief Schneider said that it seemed very unlikely to him that the blaze could have started accidentally. The fire started twelve feet in rear of the furnace, and as there was but little fire in the furnace due to the warm day no heat sufficient to cause combustion could have reached the point where the blaze began, the chief declared. Some one had been in the building since an early hour. He announced the intention of continuing his investigation.

WATCHMEN BEATEN BY DRUG MANIAC

STOCKTON, Nov. 23.—Crazed by what the police believe was a combination of the effects of marijuana and alcohol, an unidentified man assaulted two watchmen and beat them badly, wrecked two houses, fired a number of shots at a bystander without taking effect, fired pointblank at a policeman and missed, and was finally killed by a shot from the officers' revolver.

The man had the appearance of a laborer and was roughly dressed. He appeared suddenly before the watchmen at a box factory and started beating him. The watchman fled to a lumber yard, and with another watchman took refuge in the office of the place while the crazed man battered down the door. He severely beat the man who fled, shot him. He then took the revolver and ejected a house, ejected the two men who were inside and literally wrecked the place.

SAN RAFAEL, Nov. 25.—William Power, a guard at San Quentin, is the most "stuck-up guy" in the prison and until a barber comes to his assistance he will continue to be so. Although he was uninjured, Power will remember the incident for some time. The glue flowed freely through his locks and down the collar of his shirt. It is believed some convict in the carpenter shop threw the missile.

ACTRESS WON'T BE SPANKED; DESERTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Barbara Bennett, 17-year-old actress, refuses to be spanked, and has left her father, Richard, the actor, for the shelter of her mother's home, Bennett revealed.

The father is the star in a new Broadway production. The daughter is in the supporting cast. Bennett and Mrs. Bennett recently agreed to a "friendly" separation, the father taking Barbara to live with him and the mother taking Constance, an older daughter.

Father Bennett laid down a rule for Barbara that she must be home promptly at midnight unless she informed him where she went and with whom. One night Barbara after the show, went out with Pat Somerset, the actor, and his wife, Edith May. She left a note for her father, but he did not get it.

Along toward dawn Bennett, as he tells the story, worried, telephoned his wife and together they waited on the front step for Barbara's return. Soon a taxi, Barbara stepped out. Bennett declared he would chastise her. She objected. The mother objected. A policeman objected. Bennett hit the policeman on the nose.

The whole party went to a police station and the sergeant told them to forget it. Barbara went home with her mother.

Woman Attacked By Youth With Hammer

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Eva Gilbert, 40, of 131 Ashbury street was struck on the head with a hammer by an unidentified young man who had come to her front door for the second time within an hour to inquire the rental price of an adjoining apartment. The intruder fled, leaving

COURT FINDS FOR MAH JONGG FIRMS

Mah jongg is not a game of dominoes, as the customs appraisers have contended for years, but should have been classified in assessing tariff duties as "manufacturing of bone." This is the substance of a decision rendered by Judge B. S. Waite of the appraisers' court in a case brought for W. A. Hammond company. By the decision the importers will have to pay a duty of only 20 per cent instead of the 50 per cent charged on dominoes.

Before mah jongg became a popular American game it was imported solely by Chinese for their own use under the name of Chinese dominoes. Imports were not large and the 50 per cent duty demanded was paid without question. When the game became a craze in the United States the importers did not want to pay the large duty and filed a protest. The case has just been decided after long litigation.

However, the end is not yet. This decision was under the old tariff act and includes importations up to September, 1922, when the new tariff law became effective. Under the 1922 tariff there is another classification. Dominoes are left out of the argument. The government asks for a duty of 45 per cent containing that mah jongg is "manufacturers of bamboo." The importers have filed a new protest asking for a 25 per cent duty assessed against "manufacturers in chief value of bone," contending the bone face on the mah jongg tile is of more importance than the bamboo back.

Thousands of dollars in duties paid under protest will be released by Judge Waite's decision, but more thousands are tied up under the new dispute.

Cuenca, a city of 30,000 in Ecuador, lies 8469 feet above the sea. Fifty years ago Portland cement was first made in the United States.

"I believe that Santa Ana will, for the next few months, be harried by marauders and thieves of all sorts," said City Marshal Claude Rogers today. "The police department will do everything possible to prevent crime, and in this connection I am asking the people of this community to co-operate with me."

"Many robberies are caused in this city because of the carelessness of property owners. They will put a $5 lock on the front door of their house and a 25 cent lock on the rear door; then go away from home feeling that they have taken every precaution to safeguard their property. In reality they have only slightly handicapped a determined thief."

"The average thief carries several pass keys with him and the fact that the door is locked from the inside and the key left in the lock does not baffle him. With a small pair of pliers he either removes the key from the inside of the door or by turning it with the pliers uses the key to open the door."

Bolts Are Urged.

"If property owners really want to safeguard their property, they should, in addition to locking the door on the inside, equip the door with a bolt. Not only should they equip the door with a bolt, but they should be certain that the bolt is thrown before leaving the house. Key hole plugs are also efficient in stopping a burglar. A small wire plug, if inserted in the keyhole after the lock is turned, will prevent the key from being removed, and will make it impossible for a burglar, operating from the outside, to remove the key by using pliers."

"Jewels should never be left in a house when the owners are away. A great quantity of jewels should not be kept in the house even when the owners are at home. Keeping jewelry in the house not only endangers the jewels to thieves, but endangers the lives of the people in the house."

Thieves Follow Crows.

"The average jewel thief is a man who will not stop at anything, not even murder, in order to attain his end. Jewels should be kept in a safety deposit vault when not in use."

"The expectation of considerable thievery during the next few months is not unusual. Thieves, like the more honorable tourists, come to California during the winter season. They follow the crowds. That Southern California secures the greatest number of tourists means that naturally the greatest number of thieves will follow them."

"Some of the most notorious crooks in the entire United States come to Southern California during the winter season. They will not work, in fact few of them know any useful trade. They must live so they follow their natural bent. They steal—hence the increasing number of burglaries, holdups and similar crimes during the winter."

ANAHEIM MOTHERS PLEASED AT CLINIC

FULLERTON, Nov. 23.—The largest baby clinic since the organization of the Community Nurse association was reported at the monthly session of the association in the city hall on Wednesday night. FULLERTON GARAGE
PARTIALLY BURNED

FULLERTON, Nov. 23.—A fire at 4 a. m. Thursday, in a Fullerton garage did about $2000 damage before flames extinguished. It had made great headway when discovered. The flames nearly destroyed the garage, burning one Ford coupe owned by Dewey Al. The fire was caused by a gas leak and badly damaged another owned by Ralph Hudson. Both cars were covered by insurance.

The fire spread to an adjoining cottage owned by Miss Alvina Robinson, and destroyed by George Strable and family, partially destroying it. All furniture and household goods were removed without loss.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is thought that it started from a short circuit in a car, or was the result of combustion in a pile of oily rags.

Pair Seeking $6300 For Hurts In
'Traffic Billiards'

How a man and woman were the unwilling participants in a game of "traffic billiards" in which they suffered alleged injuries, was recounted here today in civil complaints for damages filed separately in the superior court by Fred Robins and his wife, Helen, against Earl Spiles. The claims aggregated $6,387.

It was alleged that in a collision at the intersection of Lemon and North streets, Anaheim, Robins' car was shoved by Spiles' car for 40 feet, finally crashing into a wagon standing at the curb. Both Mr. and Mrs. Robins were considerably bruised and disabled for some time afterward, Robins receiving a permanent scar over one eye, he alleged. His total claim was $3,887. Mrs. Robins sued for $2500 for personal injuries.

Attorney Leonard Evans, of Anaheim filed the suits for Mr. and Mrs. Robins.

No New Drilling For Wells Started Here
Last Week Is Report

According to a report by the state oil and gas supervisors, for the week ending November 17, no new oil wells were started in Orange county during the week. In the state thirty-two new wells were started, as compared with seventeen the previous week. For the year, 1226 new wells have been started, with the number for the same period last year being 1277. Five wells were abandoned during the week, the report shows.

Mystery surrounds the robbery. Although the loss was discovered a month ago a description of the missing articles has just been sent to police in all parts of the country.

TO USE NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY IN EAST

Extending his activities as publicity representative for the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, D. W. McDannald has developed a plan for getting personal contact with new arrivals in Santa Ana, he stated here today.

The personal acquaintance is followed by a personal note to the newspaper or newspapers in the city in which the new arrival formerly lived, announcing location of the family here.

Pointing out that the personal visit tends to impress the newcomers with the fact that Santa Ana is interested in him, McDannald said that further publicity for the city is secured through the publication in the "back east" newspapers of a personal item announcing the safe arrival here of the newcomers.

The most recent publication to reach McDannald containing notice of location here of a family is the Roodhouse Record, of Roodhouse, Ill., which says:

"Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Mansfield and children, who left for California in their car two weeks ago, have arrived at Santa Ana, in Orange county, that state, where they will locate for the next few months, at least. They like the little city of Santa Ana very much."

NAB PATROLMEN IN BOOZE BRIBE CASE

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—Patrolmen Arthur J. Kemmer, 29, and William L. Burtch, 32, were under arrest today on a charge of extortion preferred by B. L. Caliva, confessed bootlegger, who reported the officers attempted to "shake him down" following their discovery of a still in his home.

Caliva told police that he had given the patrolmen $100 and that they were to return for $400 more. Two detectives were stationed in Caliva's home. They witnessed the passing of the $400 from Caliva to their brother officers and then made the arrest, according to the report.

DIRECTORY WILL SHOW GAIN IN POPULATION

Expect to Tell Growth of County and City Within Period of Two Weeks

Prepared to announce some surprising increases in population in Santa Ana and Orange county, H. L. Walsh, one of a crew of fourteen men and women representing the Western Directory company of Long Beach, will make public within the next two weeks pre-publication figures of the first county-wide directory ever printed for this county.

"This directory," Walsh said, "is virtually complete as far as the north end of the county is concerned. The figures for the south section of the county are now being assembled and checked. Following a re-check, and some corrections, we will be able to issue a pre-publication forecast of population within the next two weeks."

"Our workers, who have been covering Orange county very thoroughly, have a system of checking and re-checking which makes it doubly certain that none will be overlooked. We even sent men into the hills to get the sheepherders."

"This directory will be particularly valuable, in view of the fact that it will show the exact number of new houses constructed in Santa Ana and other leading cities in Orange county."

According to Walsh and his associates, copies of the new directory probably will not be available for public distribution until the latter part of December.

"We will make every effort to issue the book before the first of the year," Walsh said, "but those who have moved and who wish to have their addresses changed still have time to notify us. They should address the Western Directory company, First National bank building, Long Beach, Calif."

'FINAL' SEPARATION ALLEGED BY WIFE

Having separated many times, and "making up" after each quarrel, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Travis finally separated "for good" in this city last July 24, according to a divorce complaint on file today, in the superior court here.

The wife, Ella Travis, seeks a decree on the grounds of cruelty. She and her husband quarreled usually over his treatment of their six children, she alleged. While they were living at Whittier in 1921, the authorities warned Travis to cease his asserted inhuman treatment of the children, Mrs. Travis alleged.

Once, while they were living at Huntington Beach, she declared, Travis assembled the entire family in their living room, told the children that their mother was unfit to care for them and urged them to come with him and leave her. The children all chose to remain with their mother, she said.

The children range in age from 9 to 19, three of them now residing here with their mother, it was stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis were married in Ottawa, Iowa, June 29, 1903. Attorney Roland Thompson of this city represents Mrs. Travis in this divorce action.

Only Child Loses in $15,000 Will Contest

WEATHERFORD, Tex., Nov. 19.—The will of the late Ben C. Henry, which was contested by his daughter, Mrs. Tom Erwin of this city in the District Court here, was upheld by the jury.

The will, disposing of an estate valued at between $10,000 and $15,000, provided that all property should go to the widow to use at will during her lifetime, after which it should be divided between his three grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Mrs. Erwin sought a child's portion of the property.

Notice has been given that a new trial will be sought, and if this is overruled an appeal will be made.

Lewis Warns Against Too Much College Sport

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—With increasing demands made upon the vitality of the race, William Mather Lewis, Chicago, in his inaugural address as president of the George Washington university, said: "The university which gives sharp attention to the physical well-being of every student is adding tremendously to his chances of success."

Financial transactions and elaborate equipment," he said, "are forcing college athletics close to the line of commercialized entertainment. It is our duty to lead back to sport for sport's sake."

LEGION AIDS POLICEMEN

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 21.—Lafayette post, American Legion, composed of 1500 local policemen, is taking steps to protect members of the local police department from alleged unjustified charges against many of them. BOUNCING BOY
OF FOUR DAYS SEEKS HOME

Here's Chance For 35 Who Didn't Get Girl County Hospital Offered

You parents with the big hearts and empty homes; including you who failed to get that little baby girl that was given out for adoption at the county hospital the other day—Listen!

There's another baby at the hospital to be given away.

This one is a boy, just four days old. A big, bouncing, healthy boy. He weighed eight and a half pounds at birth. He needs a home. There will be many homes offered him. Thirty-six homes were invitingly opened to the little girl that was given away last week. But the home that gets him must be of the very best type, the hospital authorities insist. Since he must seek a home in this way, they intend that he shall have the best they can find for him.

Developing the necessity for thus placing the hospital babies with strangers and fearful that the public may gain a wrong impression, Dr. Harry Zaiser, hospital superintendent, today stated:

"The hospital has always discouraged the practice of giving babies out for adoption, but sometimes circumstances arise which make it absolutely necessary. Sometimes the mother will refuse to keep the baby and her relatives also may decline to take care of it. In such cases we have no alternative but to find a home for it, and we always seek the best."

"This boy we have here now is a fine baby and worthy of a good home. We shall do our best to find one for him. I might as well state in that connection that those who desire to adopt him should come to the hospital and apply in person. We cannot recognize telephone calls."

SECRETS OF COOKING REVEALED BY WOMAN

The cooking school being conducted this week at the J. O. Horton Furniture company's store by Mrs. Harriet Hall is attracting increasing numbers of interested women, it was stated here today. The pleasing personality of Mrs. Hall and her devotion to her subject have won much favorable comment.

In the class room Mrs. Hall reveals her secrets of good cooking, demonstrating many of the steps to be taken, and offering the results of her cooking to the class. There seems to be an especially large crowd around each day when she distributes samples of delicious cakes.

Many of Mrs. Hall's recipes, which have been developed by experience, are given to those present. In addition to her cooking instruction, Mrs. Hall lectures at length upon domestic methods of establishing efficiency in the kitchen, and short cuts which save time, labor and money, as well as producing better results.

There are two classes daily, one beginning at 10 a. m., the other at 2 p. m. Mrs. Hall's stay at Horton's ends with the two classes tomorrow.

Hard at work rehearsing the operetta, "Almond Eyes," the presentation of which at the Temple theater here the afternoon and night of December 6 and the night of December 7 will be for them one of the most exciting events of the school year, members of the Blue clubs of the Frances E. Willard junior high school are actively selling tickets to the performances. Tickets are also being sold at the White Cross drug store, it was stated.

The operetta, which is in two acts, is being directed by Miss Mary Carroll, instructor in art and music at the school. Virtually every department of the school is assisting in the preparation of the operetta. The gorgeous costumes to be used in the piece have been virtually completed, it was stated. Old Chinese prints were used as "copy" for them.

Several of the most attractive scenes from "Almond Eyes" will be presented in the Frances E. Willard junior high school auditorium tonight, when the program, given jointly by that and the Julia C. Lathrop school, is presented as the schools' third number on the winter lyric course.

Mr. T. E. Stephenson, Postmaster, Santa Ana, California.

Dear Terry:

Please don't be offended, Terry, as we mean only to be constructive in our criticism of your work as our new postmaster. We realize that you have your troubles, Terry, with Christmas coming on and when he were in the post office this morning we saw you surrounded by a mob of persons who were asking many puzzling questions.

We heard one man ask how much it would cost to send some silk stockings to Mesopotamia.

If I send a box of snuff to Copenhagen will it arrive in time for a hearty Christmas sneeze? was the question of another; then some mock orange wants to know if he can send a piano by parcel post, and somebody else said "Why haven't my pajamas come yet?"

We realize, Terry, that these are some of the troubles that are lining your manly brow, but Terry we have our troubles too, Terry.

No increase in Mail.

Terry you have been in office for several weeks and yet, Terry, we don't seem to be getting any more mail at our house than when Mr. Overshiner was postmaster, Terry. Can't you do something about it, Terry?

Another thing, Terry, our mail seems slow in arriving back East and our lady who dwells in the land of galoshes and ear-muffs is growing cold as a mother-in-law's kiss.

Now with all due consideration for you, Terry, we still feel like this is your fault and we feel, Terry, like you are laying down on the job, Terry.

However, Terry, don't be downhearted, Terry, for as the poet says "Where there's fire there must be smoke or words suchly. We are about to offer you some helpful suggestions, Terry.

No. 1. In order to speed up the carriers put them on roller skates instead of bicycles. They waste so much time getting on and off bicycles and they could stay right on skates, Terry.

No. 2. Save all mail which is left over and give it to us, Terry. New Post Card Reader.

No. 3. Send our letters by wireless. This is a bright and apt suggestion because they would arrive more soonly, Terry.

No. 4. Hire more carriers, but fire Floyd Mitchell. He's our carrier. We think he's holding out on us, Terry.

No. 5. Hire us to sort the mail, Terry. This would enable us to get more mail, Terry, and read a few postal cards.

No. 6. Teach your carriers auto suggestion, Terry. Have them repeat each morning "Day by day in every way, I'm getting more speedy."

Well, Terry, I think you will find these little rules very helpful. In case you decide that you need us to run your business for you don't fail to phone, Terry. Remember, Terry, that you are a servant of the public, Terry. As our good wife used to say before she got her throat caught in our fingers "It's better to give good service than to receive complaints."

Yours till Judge Cox dismisses a speeder.

—JACK FISHER.

JUNIOR COLLEGE
PREDICTED

Declaration by George Morton that the Santa Ana junior college in four years would have a four-year course, and assertion by Overton Lahr that residents of Santa Ana have not supported the institution in the manner they should, featured a program presented by junior college students at the meeting of the Lions club at St. Ann's Inn yesterday.

The program was the development of Educational week with Ray Canterbury as chairman of the club program committee, and Raymond Vanduff directing the program by the students.

Presentation of advantage of the local school was the theme of three addresses made by boys, other numbers on the program by college students being vocal solos by Miss Dorothy Sammis and piano solos by Miss Mildred Moore.

Discussing "The Value of the Junior College to Our Community," A. B. Adamson said he wanted to stress the fact that the college is more than a Santa Ana institution, as students come from various districts in the south portion of the county.

Pointing out that a great majority of the young men and women graduating from school want such students go to an outside college they lose their friendships and interest in their home city, with the result that following graduation they may take up homes in some other community. "If a student goes away for four years he loses his local friendships and his interests here, whereas, if he can stay here for two years of his college course, he is not so apt to lose the friendships and the interest he has in his community," said Adamson.

Cites Better Environment

"Advantages of the junior college to the individual," was the subject of a brief talk by Lahr. Declaring that the advantages were numerous, he confined his remarks to three classifications of his subject. Pointing out that in the first two years of home college training the new student is able to find himself and gets into all the academic work.

Appropriation For Harbor Improvement Not to Enter Discussion

C. C. Chapman, Fullerton; Francis Cuttle, Riverside, and Major Charles T. Leeds of Los Angeles, harbor engineers, will leave Thanksgiving morning for Washington, D. C., to appear before the board of army engineers to urge an appropriation for a resurvey of Orange county harbor, according to a statement made today by Chapman.

Arrangements for departing on that date were complete at a conference of the committeemen held in the office of Leeds, Chapman said.

According to the millionaire fruit grower, the committee plans to arrive in Washington two days before the hearing, in order to have time to organize plans for presenting facts to the board.

Steps Outlined.

Pointing out that the committee was appointed primarily to ask for a resurvey, Chapman said that it would make no attempt at this time to seek political influence to have an appropriation for harbor improvement included in the next rivers and harbors bill.

"We will attempt, however, to have the engineers advise us as to the possibilities of making a harbor at Newport Bay and the probable cost," said Chapman. "Until we have this information definitely in hand, the committee thinks it would be unwise to attempt an effort to secure an appropriation. If we get an appropriation for a resurvey, the further information we desire will be forthcoming."

Board Familiar Here.

"The board of supervisors also wants this information before asking the voters of the county to approve a bond issue for further development of the harbor. In this point I think the board is very wise."

Chapman said Congressman Phil Swing and Colonel Fries, former United States engineer for this district, will be in Washington to assist the committee, adding that he expected other men prominent in the national capital will lend their influence in behalf of an appropriation for a resurvey.

Stating that some of the members of the board, particularly the chief engineer, had visited the harbor, Chapman said it was possible the engineers may be in position to advise the committee at once as to the possible cost of creating a big harbor at Newport bay.

Announcement made today that the chamber of commerce at Anaheim last night adopted a resolution endorsing the plan to secure federal aid for the project, was found to be particularly pleasing to harbor advocates.

Beauty for Girls

Youth for women—Let me show you how

By Edna Wallace Hopper

For 40 years I have been a famous beauty. Now, at the age of 62, I am the most talked-about woman in America as an example of perennial youth.

The reason is this: My mother and I, many years ago, searched the world to find the best beauty helps in existence. They multiplied my beauty, and I became the rage. They have kept my beauty to a grand old age.

I am convinced that these helps can bring like results to millions. And I have decided to enable all to get them.

Easy, simple ways I do about what you do. But the difference is that I employ the best helps science knows.

You use clay, perhaps. Any woman who omits it does herself injustice. But you use crude and muddy clays which I quite years ago. I use a modern clay, white, refined and dainty. A clay perfected by 20 years of scientific study.

Mine I call my White Youth Clay. It is fully ten times as efficient as ordinary clays. The new complexion that it brings amazes and delights. Many women in 30 minutes seem to drop ten years.

Clay brings rosy, clear complexions. It takes out the causes of blackheads and blemishes. It firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles. The women who employ it stand out in every crowd.

But my White Youth Clay is a super-clay—the last word in facial clay. It brings multiplied results. The cost is 50 cents and $1.

The supreme creams You use creams, no doubt. I spent a fortune to secure the best creams in existence.

My Youth Cream is a cold cream, containing both lemon and strawberry. Also all the best that science knows to foster and feed the skin texture.

I apply it after my clay. Also as a night cream. Also daytimes as a powder base. It is ever-present, to whiten, soften and preserve my skin. I have never known another cream which brought any like results.

I clean my skin with my Facial Youth. That is a liquid cleanser which I found long ago in France. Now leading beauty experts everywhere employ it.

It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. The skin cannot absorb it. But it enters the pores and cleans the skin to the depths. Nothing else in all the world can clean the skin as this does.

My Facial Youth sells for 75 cents. The identical formula, offered by great beauty experts, is everywhere sold at $3.

For beautiful hair My hair is my greatest glory. It is thick and lustrous and grows finer every year. Never have I known a falling hair, dandruff or gray hair.

This is due to my Hair Youth, which France perfected for me. I apply it with an eye dropper, directly to the scalp. It keeps the scalp clean and the hair roots stimulated. I have brought beautiful hair to countless friends by giving them this method. It costs 50 cents and $1.

All druggists and toilet counters supply the beauty helps I use. Go try them. Each will bring you rich rewards. I am very glad to enable you to get them. Edna Wallace Hopper, Business address, Waukegan, Wis. Miss Hopper is now playing the Pantages vaudeville circuit of the western states.

JUNIOR COLLEGE OF FULL TERM PREDICTED

tivities of the college, Lühr said that a student attending a larger institution away from home, finding himself among strangers, does not have the same happy home surroundings and soon becomes discouraged in his studies.

He declared that in the smaller institution the individual student can receive greater assistance from an instructor than he can at a university, where a teacher may lecture to a class of 2500, all of whom may be absolute strangers to him.

Another advantage, he pointed out, is that a student still is under the parental influence.

Cost Much Less Finances, he said, is the third important point. Pointing out that the cost for a year's attendance at an outside college ranges from $600 to $1500, he said a student can attend the junior college here at an average cost varying from $30 to $50.

"The junior college is invaluable to the poor student, for it gives him an opportunity to pursue his quest for knowledge that would not be available to him if he had to spend $300 or $1000 a year to attend a university," Lühr concluded, his final statement being that Santa Ana people were not giving the local college the support they should.

"We want you to boost for the junior college—it is something of which you may well be proud," declared Morton, in closing the program. Pointing to athletic and other activities of the college as evidence that the college is developing a good school spirit, Morton said that the college ranks the highest of any of the similar institutions in the state.

He said that an inspector recently visiting the local school had declared that the college here offered better instruction in the two-year course than is offered at the larger institutions in the state.

Speaking in the highest terms of the faculty, Morton said, "In four years we will have a four-year course here, and then we will have your support. We will not want it then, but we do want it now."

With the luncheon clubs of the week featuring educational programs, effective work has been done in presenting to the members of the clubs features of school activities and particularly impressing the value of the junior college.

Says England May Not Be Next America Ally

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 23.—"England may not be our ally in the next great war and stand between us and our enemy with its great fleet," S. Wallace Dempsey, Lockport, N. Y., chairman of the Rivers and Harbors committee of the house of representatives, declared in an address at the opening session of the Mississippi Valley association here.

"We must not be left defenseless through losing the great merchant marine we constructed at so enormous a cost," he said.

For the development of a personnel of skilled sailors, as well as for the purpose of carrying American goods abroad in American ships, the merchant marine must be further expanded and continued by this country, he said.

A. M. STANLEY TO HEAD 1924 FAIR PLAN

The 1924 Orange county fair, sponsored by the Orange county farm bureau, will be managed by A. M. Stanley, secretary-manager of the farm bureau, unless present plans miscarry, it was reported here today.

With the disbanding of the 1923 fair board, headed by J. A. Smiley, plans for the coming fair will not be considered by the farm bureau directors, it was explained, but will remain in abeyance until the new fair board is named.

The new board, which will have power to name the new manager and other officers, will be selected by the farm bureau executive committee probably in February.

"Until that time," said Stanley here today, "very little will be done in connection with the 1924 fair, except to discuss it at some of the meetings of the retiring board, preparatory to turning the matter over to the new organization next year."

Tells Views as to Site Stanley, who came to Orange county on Napa for the purpose of familiarizing himself with the duties of fair manager, said he would be inclined "to favor any well-located site in Santa Ana for next year's fair. While not particularly impressed with the old fair site, on the Union Pacific right-of-way, Stanley said this could be utilized if nothing better is available.

"At the same time, however," Stanley explained, "my personal feeling is that a location better adapted for the purpose could be secured. Several places have been suggested, including the old circus grounds at the foot of West Fourth street, and a tract of land on North Main street near Santiago creek.

"In any event, the fair site should be centrally located, within easy access of both city and county, and should be one that could be acquired for a permanent fair grounds if this is contemplated."

Urgest Broadest Scope Concerning a name for the fair, Stanley said he would be inclined to favor anything that would give the fair a broader scope, just as he would favor any reasonable plan to make a far more pretentious exposition of the annual event.

"Call it a fair, a rodeo, a remuda, or what you will," said Stanley, "but make it take in everything that is great in Orange county—not only agriculture primarily but every industry that has helped to make the country realize this is one of the greatest counties in the world. The individual farmer, the members of the farm centers, the great forces behind all our industries can, and should, find a common interest in this, our one best opportunity to tell the world that we know how to do things in a big way."

Stanley was unable to forecast with any degree of certainty the personnel of the next fair board. As assistant manager of the 1923 fair Stanley made an excellent record in handling the concessions and other features of the annual event.

WEAK WOMEN cannot hope ever to become strong and well again unless they have plenty of good, rich, red blood of the kind that organic iron—Nuxated Iron—helps make. Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, while metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on iron filings. Nuxated Iron does not injure the teeth nor upset the stomach; it is an entirely different thing from ordinary metallic iron. It quickly helps make rich, red blood, revitalize worn-out, exhausted nerves and give you new strength and energy. Over 4,000,000 people annually are using it. At all druggists. Beware of substitutes. The genuine has N. I. stamped on every tablet. Always insist on having the genuine.

GROUND RUMOR OF RUM BOAT IN FLIGHT

The grounding of a fishing boat near Sunset Beach early today caused a flurry that sent both county and federal officers rushing to the scene, only to find that reports of a rum running expedition were wholly unfounded.

First information, which caused hasty mobilization of Sheriff Sam Jernigan's forces at 4 a. m., was to the effect that two men had landed in an open boat with a cargo of liquor, expecting to find a truck to meet them. Discouraged by apparent miscarriage of their plans, the men abandoned the liquor, the report stated.

This word was sent out, it was said, by a Pacific Electric operator at Los Patos, between Seal Beach and Huntington Beach, finally reaching the sheriff's office. Headed by Jernigan, himself, a squad of a dozen deputies rushed by automobile to the scene.

The rumor was traced to two small boys who had observed two drunken men on the sand along the beach, the officers said.

Bigger quarry, however, hove in sight shortly when the officers were directed to a boat, seemingly of the considerable size, which loomed faintly through the fog in the gray of the morning. The vessel appeared to be aground and making vigorous efforts to free itself. The rumor went around that here was the rum runner.

Rough surf prevented the launching of small boats to reach the craft, but Sheriff Jernigan's suspicions of the boat vanished when he saw that he carried lights, he said. Then the ship captain came ashore to seek aid and told the officers that his boat was the St. Andrews, out of San Pedro. The First National bank of San Pedro owned the boat he said.

Not to overlook any precautions, however, Sheriff Jernigan communicated with the Long Beach police, and a government revenue cutter from Long Beach harbor was shortly on the way to scene. The federal officers boarded the fishing boat and satisfied themselves that there was no liquor aboard, according to word received here by Jernigan at noon today.

AUTOIST BALKS ON 'CUTTING IN' FINE

Having been ordered to pay a fine of $100 on a charge of "cutting in," C. C. Blanchard, Santa Ana autoist, today was preparing to appeal to the superior court here from judgment by Justice J. B. Cox, who found Blanchard guilty of the charge late yesterday.

Blanchard's fine was the second of that amount to be levied by Justice Cox in two days. Edward Welsh, Los Angeles, having paid $100 as a fine Wednesday. He was found guilty of cutting in on a motorist in the Santa Ana canyon near Olive.

D. P. Carmichael of this city charged Blanchard with cutting in on the El Modena grade. Carmichael said he was forced off the boulevard when Blanchard passed him while a third car was passing at the same time from the opposite direction.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Steele, who were driving behind Carmichael and Blanchard corroborated Carmichael's testimony, but Blanchard denied cutting in or that a third car was involved.

Attorney W. F. Menton defended Blanchard at the trial, Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wettlin representing the people.

Dodd expressed the belief that the injured passengers were not seriously hurt.

P.-T.A. RADIO PROGRAM HERE BIG SUCCESS

The radio program broadcast last night at KPAW, The Register radiophone, under the auspices of the City Federation of Parent-Teacher associations, proved to be a highly artistic success. Each school in the district was represented by some member, either faculty, parent or student. Every one of the fourteen numbers offered were so good in their respective class that to select any one particular artist as the star of the evening would be impossible.

Mrs. Earl Morris, state chairman of education, gave a splendid talk on the aims and objects of the P. T. A. and urged everyone interested in the public school system to join in the work that the organization was doing. The rendition of the official California P. T. A. song by Miss Edith Cornell followed the overture played by the Frances E. Willard-Washington schools orchestra under the direction of Prof. Harry Garstang. This song was written by Allen Sparr, the blind composer of Alhambra.

No Dull Moments. To Mrs. Chester M. Scott, chairman of membership for the federation, great credit is due for the arrangement of the program for its high entertainment value, quality and variety. There was not one dull moment in the entire program. Many members of the P. T. A. were present at The Register studio to enjoy the program first hand.

The program broadcast last night in its entirety consisted of these numbers:

Orchestra, (a) Overture, "Magna"; (b) March, "Fort Gay." Frances E. Willard and Washington schools' orchestra, Prof. Harry Garstang. Contralto solo, official California P. T. ## L. B. MAY VOTE TO ANNEX COUNTY AREA

Santa Ana and Orange county residents today were keenly interested in the announcement made in Long Beach that Orange county territory may be included in new boundaries to be voted on some time in December for annexation to Long Beach.

If carried, the movement will give the beach city an extension of the corporate limits reaching to the southern boundary of Compton and will include a shoestring strip that intersects the Orange county line on the east at the junction of the San Gabriel river.

By including the shoestring strip in the territory to be annexed, an area of more than 100 square miles north of Long Beach and not included in previous annexation plans, will be preserved to that city for annexation, beach city engineers claim, and will prevent further plans for possible annexation to Los Angeles.

It is claimed that more than 90 per cent of the voters in the proposed addition to Long Beach have signed petitions calling for an annexation election. A date for the election will be set by the city council at its next meeting.

The new Long Beach city line, if the annexation election carries, will extend east to the Orange county line, thence north to Artesia boulevard, and west along the south line of the Redondo-Riverside boulevard, and north on American avenue to Wardlow road, and thence east to the Orange county line.

PROBATION SEEKER IN 'PARTS UNKNOWN'

Instead of granting probation, which was recently asked by Jake Griffith after he had pleaded guilty to theft of a rented automobile in this city, Superior Judge Z. B. West today issued a bench warrant for the arrest of Griffith, who has twice failed to keep his appointments to appear and learn the court's decision on his case.

When last heard of, Griffith was said to have been bound for San Francisco with little intention of changing his course to a southerly direction. Apparently, it was said, he lost confidence in his chances to gain leniency and decided to "run for it."

Griffith had been released on his own recognizance after he had voluntarily surrendered to the authorities, pleaded guilty and asked for probation.

His attorney, Morris Cain, was in court today, but was unable to throw any light on Griffith's whereabouts. District Attorney A. P. Nelson, therefore, asked for the bench warrant.

NEW JURIST GRANTS INITIAL PROBATIONS

Hearing his first application for probation today Superior Judge F. C. Drumm granted the pleas for leniency made by Wildred Alsenz and Howard Yomans, who recently confessed to the theft of walnuts valued at $25 from the Barney Cline ranch in this city.

The two youths were placed on probation for a five-year period, sentence being suspended by the court for that time. Attorney James L. Allen represented the defendants at the hearing, Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wettlin appearing for the people. Probation Officer R. R. Miller also attended the hearing, recommending that probation be granted.

COLLEGE HEAD INAUGURATED. COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 22.—Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University of Missouri since July 1, has been formally inaugurated. Presidents of a dozen state universities were included among the 165 official delegates from educational institutions all over the nation. Gov. A. M. Hyde and other state officials were present.

NEBRASKA GETS ESTATE. HASTINGS, Neb., Nov. 22.—A jury in Judge Blackledge's district court has decided that the 100,000 estate left by John O'Connor, a mysterious recluse, shall go to the state of Nebraska. Four sets of claimants were in court, the Kirkmans, the Allmans, the Connors and the Olsons, but the jury decided O'Connor died without kith or kin.

MILTON STEWART PASSES. PASADENA, Calif., Nov. 22.—Milton Stewart, aged 80, brother of Lyman Stewart, founder of the Union Oil company, died here today. Lyman Stewart died a few weeks ago.

$400 "CONSCIENCE FUND." LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—Four hundred dollars, the largest contribution ever made to the local international revenue office "Conscience fund," has been received from a wage earner whose income was some higher than the figures shown on his tax form.

TIME EVENLY DIVIDED. LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—John Wiedenroth, claimed to have two wives, spent three days each week with each one and rested on the seventh day, according to testimony one of the spouses is reported to have given here.

NEW CITY FIRE HOUSES READY IN 3 WEEKS

In a statement issued today, Fire Chief John Luxembourg said that the two new fire stations now under construction between the first and the fifteenth of December. Equipment now being held at the central station, Third and Sycamore streets, then will be removed to permanent locations and the men assigned to these stations will move into the living quarters, the chief added.

The stations under construction are of the bungalow type and designed to conform with the prevailing residence types in the neighborhood. The structures, of the old mission style, will be set off with red Spanish tile roofs and richly colored stucco walls. The station for the east side of the city is located on East First street, near the Santa Fe tracks; the west side on West Third street, between Pacific and Western avenues.

No details that would make the stations more comfortable and suitable to the needs of the district protected have been overlooked in the building of the houses, the chief added. The buildings contain an office in the front, while a dormitory for eight men, a locker room and a kitchen, complete the equipment, other than the apparatus room.

A good sized yard has been provided in the rear of each station. Successfully harmonizing the stations with the neighborhood, a parking space has been provided in front of each station. These parking spaces will be landscaped. Installation of fire alarm boxes throughout the city will not be started until the new stations are occupied, according to Luxembourg. The telephone fire alarm box system will be connected direct with each station, and every alarm will be received simultaneously in each station. The station within the district of the call will respond first, to be followed with other apparatus and the chief and his men from the central station. The central station will respond to all calls and unite the system as a whole, which will give each district the benefit of the full equipment of the fire department, Luxembourg pointed out.

A Few Matches

4,675,650,000,000. No, gentle reader, this long line of figures does not as might be supposed represent the paper money of the European countries in which currency inflation is the order of the day. On the contrary, they are the plain uninfated statistics of the world consumption of that article of daily and hourly use, the match.

A recent flotation in the United States of a large loan for the purpose of enlarging the activities of the world match manufacturing industry has led the Trade Record of the National City Bank of New York to a study of the world's output and consumption of matches and it estimates that the people of the world used last year 4,675,650,000,000 matches for which they paid approximately $200,000,000.

This estimate of the number of matches used and their cost to the "final consumer" is based upon data supplied by high authorities in the match industry of the world. Figures recently published by a high authority in London put the average per capita consumption of matches by the people of Europe at from 5 to 10 matches per day, and estimates by an equally high authority in the match industry of the United States puts the average per capita consumption of the whole world at about 7 matches per day.

TELEGRAPH OUTDONE
PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 21.—The perfect record of the telephone as a means of communication in dispatching trains is completely revolutionizing that phase of railroad ing, and is rapidly relegating the telegraph instrument to the realm of memory, according to John W. Gorby, president of the National Transportation Institute, who spoke before the convention of the Illinois Telephone association here. "Not a single railroad accident," said Mr. Gorby, has been caused by telephone orders. Better feeling and better discipline among employees are other valuable results.

NEW ARMORY PLANNED
PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 21.—It is expected that the contract for the new Peoria armory will be let by the middle of December and that it will be ready for use by midsummer. An appropriation of $198,000 was made for it.

BACK TO ORIGINAL
BEARDSTOWN, Ill., Nov. 21.—Cass county, by a vote of five to one, has abandoned the commission form of government, and has gone back to the township system. Two other counties in Illinois, Menard and Morgan, are still under the commission form.

BIG IMPROVEMENTS PLANNED
GRAND RAPIDS, Nov. 21.—By a large majority the voters have approved a $5,000,000 bond issue for a sewage disposal plant and storm, water, relief and intercepting sewers.

MUST PAY DOG TAX
LYONS, Kans., Nov. 21.—It may be as Mellon says, that the very rich are doing the income tax, but rich and poor alike have got to pay the dog tax in Rice county. Dean Brusa, county clerk, has all the dogs listed and if they are to live $1554 must be paid into the treasury.

Michigan, with 126,000 acres of land devoted to beet growing, now leads all the states in sugar beet production.

Eight Legion Men To Eat Turkeys Given To Them At Meeting

Eight members of Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion, today were happy in the assurance that they will have turkey for dinner Thanksgiving.

The assurance comes from the fact that they were presented with Thanksgiving meat at the meeting of the post last night, when the birds were distributed by lot.

The presentation followed a session of the post at which routine business was transacted. Included in the business was authorization of the business was authorization of the officers to sign a contract with the Rogers Producing company for the presentation here in February of a play. The title is "Oh, Oh, Cindy." It will be produced by local talent, with representative of the producing company directing preparation.

Readings by Ernest Crozier Phillips were features of the program. Doughnuts and coffee were served.

REVENGE THEORY IN GLAND THEFT CASE

(By United Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Revenge was advanced by police today as the motive behind an assault on Charles Ream, 22, chauffeur, who was made victim of an attack by "gland bandits."

While Earl English, University of Chicago student and cousin of Ream, was held for questioning, police were seeking "Red" Carcigan, cab driver, who Ream says "threatened to get him."

Ream lived at the English home and is said to have made advances toward English's sister, Eleanor, against English's wishes. Physicians today discarded the theory that Ream had been victimized for "commercial purposes."

"It is a mistake to describe this operation as skillfully performed," declared Coroner's Physician Joseph Springer. "It was bungled terrible. No doctor could have done it."

Other physicians disagreed with Dr. Springer, but declined to offer theories.

Redlands Student Is Debate League Winner

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—First place in the contest held last night by the Southern California Debating league was awarded to Russell Andrus, of the University of Redlands.

The speeches were extemporaneous, each speaker taking one hour to prepare his address. Second place went to Francis Henshaw of Occidental, and third honors to Paul Hutchinson, representing University of California, southern branch.

Big Gambling Halls In Juarez Under Ban

JUAREZ, Mexico, Nov. 23.—Part of the "kick" was taken out of the "wildest town on the North American continent" today when the Mexican government ordered three of the largest gambling halls in Juarez closed.

Open charges of "plated" faro games, loaded dice and too consistent "chuck-a-luck" resulted in the closing edict.

Inventions

Inventors are notoriously poor, misunderstood and exploited as a class. The reason, according to Sir John Dewrance, president of the Institute of Mechanical Engineers, is that more brain power is wasted by inventors than by any other class of people. Only about one out of every ten thousand mechanical patents is worth while. Few ever bring any material rewards to their originators. Many inventors spend their lives and fortunes experimenting with ideas that a practical mind would not consider for an instant.

There is an interesting display in Washington of the useless and fantastic ideas and devices over which men spend their lives and upon which they insisted on taking out patents. One sidesplitting invention, actually on file in the patent office is a fisherman's mirror which is lowered in the water with the hook and bait a few inches away from it. The fish, seeing his reflection in the glass, is supposed to gobble the bait before his competitor gets to it, and thus add to the fisherman's catch! There are thousands equally as foolish on file.

It might almost be said that inventions are born and not made. That is to say, some of the most wonderful and useful inventions in the world today were apparently lying in ambush along the path where thousands of human feet have trod and remained for years all undiscovered and unknown. The successful inventor is one who sees an end to be desired and a way to attain it. From that flash of inspiration come the long hours of toil and final success. But the idea waited upon the man, not the man on the idea.

A spark of fire igniting gunpowder gave somebody the idea of combustibles. Men have walked in darkness over untold gallons of petroleum, and later permitted the waste of the refinery to run into the sewer with its billions of dollars worth of by-products. A boiling kettle gave Watt his epochal discovery of the power of steam.

Inventors fall into two classes. There are, indeed, those who waste brain and wealth in useless experiments based on nothing more than a fantastic idea. But there are those with keenly objective minds who discover the secrets of nature and transform their ideas into wealth producers and time and labor savers.—San Francisco Journal.

Near Copenhagen a block of granite weighing more than 400 tons was lifted from the ocean bed and moved to a place miles distant.

TOKIO IS STILL MINUS LIGHTS, WOMAN SAYS

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The absence of municipal service and public utilities is still handicapping the cleaning up of the earthquake debris in Tokyo and Yokohama. Miss Barbara Eliasova, who left Japan in mid-October, six weeks after the catastrophe, has arrived in New York, and reports no trolley service, electric lights, scant water and a disrupted telephone service in the stricken cities.

"Candles have become very scarce in the devastated region," says Miss Eliasova. "Tokio fortunately had a few wells and can get water from them. When I left Tokio, military soldiers were working, trying to restore the electrical service. The immediate concern at first was the burying of the dead. By the tens of thousands they were taken away and burned. Yet despite all their efforts, bodies are still to be seen floating in the bay."

Soldiers as well as civilians have been put to work by the government, the pay to civilians being five dollars a day, an unheard of price for labor in Japan. Miss Eliasova was residing in the Y. W. C. A. dormitories in Yokohama at the time of the disaster. After the earthquake, she wandered dazed through the burning city, spending three days and nights in the open with fellow refugees.

The task of caring for seven hundred little orphaned victims is only one of the tasks that the disaster has brought to the door of the Young Women's Christian association.

The committee representing a number of organizations in charge intends to roof over some buildings and with a church will be used as barracks," writes Mrs. Katharine W. Eddy from Tokio. "The government is to furnish the food and we are to be responsible for their care. There is hope that some of the parents will be discovered. The children not having homes will be sent later to orphanages."

The Tokio Y. W. C. A. is working hard on the children's clothes for the fall and winter. Japanese and foreign women are meeting at Mrs. Eddy's house to sew. Thirty thousand house boxes containing blankets, utensils and dishes for the homeless refugees have been distributed by their committee.

WOMEN FIGHT OVER EX-NUN'S ADDRESS

(By United Press Leased Wire)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 23.—Rioting broke out here last night following an address at the St. John theater by Mrs. Helen Steep, who claims to be an ex-nun.

Scheduled speeches by the woman had been ordered stopped by police following an outbreak at a meeting Wednesday, but she obtained a court injunction preventing further police interference. Following her address last night, women started screaming, pulling hair and arguments broke out throughout the theater. One woman who asked a question following the speech, was escorted from the theater by police amid cries of "throw her out." On the outside fist fighting started and a score of police were required to quiet the crowd.

Mrs. Steep, who lectures under the name of "Sister Mary Ethel," attacked Catholicism.

MAN IN GIRL CASE FACING OPERATION

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—Taylor Cumpston, 51, faced sterilization today as the result of his conviction and sentence on a charge of assault against a 10-year-old girl, the second criminal to come under the jurisdiction of the recently enacted California law empowering authorities to perform sterilization operations on persons convicted of such crimes.

Judge Arthur Keetch, who sentenced Cumpston and ordered the operation performed, denounced the convicted man bitterly. He told him he wished he had the power to sentence him to death—that he had never heard evidence as revolting as that presented at the trial.

Objection Made To Tax Paying Change

ANAHEIM, Nov. 23.—More than fifty rate taxpayers owning property along five streets recently paved in Anaheim appeared before the board of trustees last night and protested the action of City Manager O. E. Steward in changing the manner of assessing paving costs.

The difficulty was started when the city advertised for bids on the paving of five widely separated streets by varying widths. The contract was let on the basis of 20.7 cents a square foot, but when the assessments were made, the city manager followed a ruling of the state supreme court and assessed the cost at $3.98 a front foot on all the streets regardless of width.

After numerous protests had been received, the city council was advised by City Attorney H. V. Weisel to change the assessments to the original plan and, if necessary, settle the matter through legal procedure.

JAPANESE HERE GIVE $87 TO RED CROSS

The treasury of the Santa Ana chapter of the Red Cross was enriched today by $87, brought to local headquarters by S. Nitta, prominent Japanese, as contribution by some of his countrymen in expression of their appreciation of the aid rendered by the Red Cross in the recent Japanese disaster.

"The memberships represented by the sum were presented unsolicited," said Miss Margaret Esau, who is directing the drive here for new members for the chapter. Declaring that solicitors continue to report success in their efforts to secure new members, Miss Esau said it still is impossible to issue a definite statement as to the number of new members and the amount of money collected. Again pointing out the big public service rendered and the preparation of the Red Cross has made for assisting in relief of distress, Miss Esau said that since the service was begun 175,000 persons have completed the Red Cross first aid course, 9500 of the number having taken the course in the past year.

Citing other preparations, Miss Esau said:

"To reduce the loss of life by drowning the American Red Cross has enrolled 30,300 trained volunteer life-savers, of whom 11,000 are men, 7,000 women and 12,300 from the ranks of the Junior American Red Cross.

"Through the Junior Red Cross nearly 5,000,000 children in American schools, and through instruction in the beauty and sacredness of unselfish service, are being prepared for a better citizenship.

"Under the direction of its chapters, 1,038 Red Cross public health nurses, in rural communities, are relieving suffering and teaching people how to keep well.

"During the past year 30,441 certificates were issued to students completing the Red Cross course in home hygiene and care of the sick."

SHE CAN QUALIFY

TIENTSIN, China, Nov. 23.—The following conversation was overheard recently in a quartermaster corps headquarters of the American forces here, when Field Clerk Zimmerman was examining candidates for civilian stenographer:

Sweet Thing—I want a position as private secretary.

Zimmerman—What are your qualifications?

Sweet Thing—Four years in college and never played hooky.

Zimmerman—Can you remember dates?

Sweet Thing—Depends on how often you make them.

Zimmerman—Do you consider your four years of college well spent?

Sweet Thing—I received a lot of practical knowledge.

Zimmerman—Are you ever going to get married?

Sweet Thing—It doesn't look that way.

Zimmerman—Can you take notes?

Sweet Thing—Well, I prefer cash.

Zimmerman—Can you typewrite?

Sweet Thing—Yes.

Zimmerman—How fast are you?

Sweet Thing—As the average college girl.

Zimmerman—Report tomorrow at 9 o'clock.

FLEECE BY WOMAN

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—Ben Fereday, 62, retired farmer of Oelwein, Iowa, met a fair damsel here who said she would get divorced and then marry him. Two men who pretended to be deputy marshals broke in on them and demanded $5000. Fereday paid them. She wanted a guarantee that his love would not grow cold while she was getting her divorce so he placed $10,000 in safe deposit. She drew it out and disappeared. He reported to the police and left for home.

WOULD BE SENATOR

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 9.—William Jennings Bryan will not run for governor of Florida, but he has written to a friend at Live Oak, Fla., his friends here have learned, that if tendered the nomination for United States senator he would be "pleased to consider it in the light of the larger opportunities which such a position would present for service to my party and the country at large." It is understood he wants to carry the fight on Darwinism to the senate and drive out the "missing link."

Bootleg Stock Fills Larder of Hospital

EUREKA, Nov. 13. With the delivery of a dozen sacks of corn and a ton of sugar, the county hospital acquired an unexpected stock of winter provisions. Supervisor George Cole having picked up the sugar, a small lake of syrup and something like a ton of sugar in a barren spot on Jones creek. Had it not been for the activities of the dry squad the free provisions for the hospital would not have been delivered, but by persistent work the squad located a large still on the D. Riella ranch, and while they arrested the operator, invited the Supervisors out to stock up the hospital.

SERVICES HERE THANKSGIVING START EARLY

Brief addresses by pastors of the respective Santa Ana churches, an excellent musical program to be furnished by the quartette of the First Presbyterian church, an organ solo by Miss Ruth Armstrong and other musical numbers will feature the unique Thanksgiving services to be held in the First Presbyterian church November 23, at 10 a. m.

"We have extended invitations to virtually all the ministers of Santa Ana to participate in the early morning service," said the Rev. W. E. Roberts, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, "and a cordial invitation is extended to the people to join us in an hour of praise and thanksgiving."

"Although the program is not complete, we will have a number of Santa Ana ministers to assist in the invocation, the benediction and prayer, with the Thanksgiving sermon proper to be delivered by the Rev. Moffet Rhodes, pastor of the Spurgeon Memorial church. Musical selections will be furnished by Miss Ruth Armstrong, with songs by the male quartette, composed of Edward Newman, Jack Beatty, Earl Fraser and A. A. Garroway."

The pastor called particular attention to the hour, 10 a. m., declaring it was the aim of the Ministerial Union to complete the services in ample time for noon dinner, thus affording all an opportunity to attend services and then dispose of dinner in ample time to spend the afternoon in the open.

All churches affiliated with the Ministerial Union will be represented at the union services.

TRUSTEES TURN SESSION INTO SOCIAL BEE

ATHERTON, Nov. 23.—The millionaires who comprise the board of trustees of Atherton have evolved a way of combining business with pleasure and making their bi-monthly meetings real society fetes, attractive to the dignified matrons and the sprightly debutantes of that fashionable colony.

The board convened in the garage of the beautiful J. B. Coryell estate and found the audience so large that Dr. E. W. Westphal, the chief of police, was instructed to hang out a "Standing Room Only" sign.

Clamor for Admittance
But the society delegation clamored for admittance and demanded the right to attend the meeting. Consequently Mayor Perry Eyre sent out an S. O. S. for ideas, and Eli Weil, one of the wealthy Town Trustees, came forth with the suggestion that the meeting be held on the lawn that surrounds the Coryell home.

Instant approval was forthcoming and the interested millionaire taxpayers and society leaders, moved to the lawn. Chief Westphal, mustered a force of willing workers, and the seats in the garage were moved to accommodate the exclusive gathering. Automobiles supplied lights for the meeting, which proved to be a unique affair.

Battle is Averted
And that's not all.

The impending battle over the naming of Chief Westphal's one-man police department was averted when J. W. Seller was appointed full-fledged police officer with the title of "deputy marshal." The uniform with the gilded buttons, together with the engraved star, go to Seller, along with the official document declaring him to be one-half of the police force. Chief Westphal constitutes the other half.

Enforcement of all laws of the town will be entrusted to Seller, who promised to keep the millionaire residents in good behavior.

RETIREMENT FUND PLANNED
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 9.—William Volker has offered to contribute $50,000 for a public school teachers' retirement fund. This is in furtherance of a plan for teachers voluntarily to contribute $10 each working month to a fund, from which, upon retirement, a teacher would draw all so deposited with 3 1-2 per cent interest and her pro rata of the general fund, of which Mr. Volker's gift will be a nucleus. Volker recently started a controversy by contracting to furnish cement at cost up to 400,000 barrels a year for five years for Missouri highway construction.

BOMB WRECKS SALOON
CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—One man was injured and the interior of a saloon on the outskirts of Chicago was demolished by a high explosive bomb hurled through an open window early today.

A French doctor has made sixteen successful transfusions of animal blood into men.

P.-T. A. WORK IN NATION TOLD OVER RADIO

"The Parent-Teacher association is an organization to bring into closer relation the home and the school so that the parent and teacher may co-operate intelligently to train the child for the highest citizenship," Mrs. Earl Morris of this city, chairman of education of the state Parent-Teacher association, pointed out in an address broadcast over KFAW, The Register's radio station.

"It is a training class for parents," she continued, "where their interest in the best means for training children is quickened, and where they keep in touch with the advancing methods of school work, and the large educational movements."

"It is the organized nucleus of the public opinion, with the aim of the successful accomplishment of school progress. Educators are recognizing this unused 'parent power' and are molding it for school betterment."

Accomplishments Told
"This organization is like a great tree of service. The national is the sturdy trunk; the forty-six state organizations are the strong spreading limbs; the many districts and federations in each state are the branches; the local associations, connected with each school, are the numerous acorns on the tree of service, which is spreading out over the homes and schools in every part of our land."

"The accomplishments of this great organization have been many; all along the lines of child welfare in home and school. Philadelphia has been given to the schools, and the remainder of the limited and insufficient to supply proper needed equipment. Social aid has been tendered by entertaining teachers and pupils in the homes, by co-operating with the teachers in chaperoning and encouraging the wholesome social functions of the school."

Membership Open
"Educationally, we have gained a better knowledge of school laws, school needs, methods, and curriculum; an enlightened view of the child from the teacher's viewpoint; a training in parenthood, that much neglected and greatly needed phase of instruction."

"What the local association does in its limited field, the district, federation, state and national do in a larger and more constructive way. They accomplish for child welfare many things of great importance, which the local association could not attempt alone."

"We invite you to join this non-sectarian, non-political, democratic organization. Every one interested in our public schools is eligible for membership."

Dues At Minimum
"The dues are 25 to 50 cents per year. No one need stay out on account of the price. Five cents of these dues goes to the district, 10 cents to the state, 5 cents to the national and the remainder to the local work. Where could so small amount of money be placed to bring such lasting and far-reaching returns?"

"Santa Ana federation is conducting a membership drive, which closes December 15. It offers to the P.-T. A. in Santa Ana, which gains the largest percentage of members by that time, a picture of the man or woman for whom the school is named, or other appropriate picture. Each P.-T. A. is also offering to the grade in its school a prize for the largest percentage of members brought in by the grade."

Co-operation Urged
"Boys and girls, bring your fathers, mothers, aunts, uncles, grandfathers and mothers, and other relatives and friends to join the P.-T. A. in your school. They will have a keener interest in your work, in your progress, and in your success. If they join and become acquainted with the teachers and educators, and work with them for the best educational conditions for all boys and girls."

"Parents and friends of the public school, join with us, and by organized effort and sympathetic co-operation help to make our educational system in the city, state, and nation the merest drop of our republic. For it is in the public school that your boy and girl, and the children who come to us from every nation in the world, are being trained for American citizenship and to give their allegiance to the flag of the United States and to the republic for which it stands. Let us help to keep this nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all, by our support of the public school through membership in this great organization in the schools, the Parent-Teacher association."

DEVELOPMENT PLANNED.
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 9.—Simon Fishman of this city will cut his 35,000-acre farm in Greeley county, Kansas, into 150-acre tracts, which he will improve with buildings, plant and offer for sale. Products of the land will be operated co-operatively. Fishman came to the United States as a Russian immigrant at the age of 13 and is now one of the largest landowners in Kansas.

EDUCATORS IN SQUABBLE.
EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 9.—Recall petitions are out against members of the school board who in a "before breakfast" meeting removed Superintendent W. C. Buchanan. The board accuses him of insubordination. He and his friends charge the removal to politics, and Buchanan has asked the Michigan State Teachers' association to make an investigation.

PRISON SURVEY ORDERED.
DENVER, Nov. 9.—Thomas Mott Osborne of New York has been engaged by the state board of corrections to make an educational survey of the Canyon City penitentiary.

Members of the Santa Ana lodge, it is understood, will present a particularly attractive gift. This lodge, regarded by Orange as the "mother lodge," will send a big delegation to the Plaza city for the installation ceremonies. Fifty-three members of the Santa Ana lodge will be charter members of the Orange organization.

Officers of the new lodge, already agreed upon, will not be announced until Monday night.

Clerk at Ellis Island Held on Bribery Charge

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. Accused of taking bribes to admit immigrants detained at Ellis Island, Louis O. Schwartz, stenographer for Henry H. Curran, commissioner of immigration, and Maurice Siken, a merchant, were indicted for larceny in the second degree. It is charged that Schwartz frequently sat as a member of the board of examiners and got the names of the immigrants' relatives. Siken then would seek $150 to $500 from the relatives. It was said Siken sought out relatives of persons almost certain to be admitted. Schwartz pleaded not guilty, while Siken pleaded guilty.

2 Killed in Auto Crash; One Burned to Death

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 13.—Miss Doris Folsom, a teacher in the Sanford high school, and Alfred D. Davis, sub-master of the school, were fatally injured in an automobile accident at Dunstan. Their automobile collided with a trolley car and, after turning over, burst into flames. Davis was burned to death and Miss Folsom died several hours later at a hospital.

CAFE KEEPS PROMISE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—"A new sensation" was billed by the cafe, which opened its doors last night for the first time, following a fire several weeks ago. Three hours after the opening, with the resort crowded with picture and society folk, dry officers raided the place, fulfilling the management's promise.

Woman Denies Man Is Husband; Only Suitor

ISHPEMING, Mich., Nov. 9.—Faced with the unusual claim of his wife in Berkeley that he is her suitor and not her husband, Isaac Koski, Ishpeming garage owner, who went to Berkeley to induce the woman to return home following her alleged elopement with William Artman, formerly a boarder in the Koski home, has appealed to friends here to establish his status as husband in the eyes of the Berkeley police.

When the couple left here they are alleged to have taken three of the Koski children with them. Artman is said to be married and has a family in Canada.

MORE CONVICTS FOR HIGHWAY LABOR URGED

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 20.—Crowded conditions now existing in Folsom and San Quentin prisons can be relieved by placing more convicts in the road camps maintained by the State Highway Commission under the law passed by the last legislature and approved by Governor Richardson. This is the opinion of Julian H. Alco, who drew the convict road law, which provides for the payment of convict labor used on the highways.

At present there are 465 prisoners from San Quentin and Folsom employed on highway construction work. The average wage earned by the employees of Camp C, on the Klamath river, for September, was $10.75, Alco says. Two-thirds of this amount is paid to dependents who enjoy state aid or other dependents, and the balance is held in trust, conditionally upon good conduct, until he is released.

The salary paid the prisoners is not an added cost to the state, Alco says. It has been determined by the State Highway Commission that the per capita cost of maintaining the convicts before the new law went into effect was $2.10. This has not been increased since the prisoner is receiving a salary. More efficient and economical methods installed by Alco and the octogenarian standing in front of the postoffice, Ben Milliken, have been responsible for the saving.

Alco suggests that 500 more men on the highways will relieve the present embarrassment at the prisons and will make a saving to the state of $1500 per day based on 1000 men.

92-Year-Old Yreka Man Outwalks Kids

YREKA, Nov. 1. Four kids get out of the way and let somebody walk who can."

That was the gruff-voiced command of Dave Ream, 92 years old who addressed several septuagenarians standing in front of the postoffice. Ream lives in a shack on Greenhorn mountain, six miles from Yreka and walks to and from his home two or three times a week. "And I sometimes run a little just to keep in trim," he remarked.

2 Killed in Auto Crash; One Burned to Death

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 13.—Miss Doris Folsom, a teacher in the Sanford high school, and Alfred D. Davis, sub-master of the school, were fatally injured in an automobile accident at Dunstan. Their automobile collided with a trolley car and, after turning over, burst into flames. Davis was burned to death and Miss Folsom died several hours later at a hospital.

Youth Kills Grocer Over Can of Salmon

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 23.—Because he didn't have a dime to pay for a can of salmon, Antonio Cortez killed Antonio Garcia, aged merchant, the youth admitted to authorities last night.

Cortez said he was hungry, and that Garcia refused to let him have the salmon until he paid for it. During the argument, Cortez picked up an axe and slew Garcia, the former admitted.

Cortez was arrested when he was noticed in the crowd that gathered around the store soon after the murder was discovered.

HOLUBAR FUNERAL
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—Funeral services were to be held this afternoon for Allen J. Holubar, motion picture director and husband of Dorothy Phillips, screen star, at Hollywood. The body will be buried in the Hollywood cemetery.

Holubar was stricken with a fatal illness while directing a picture in Tennessee.

The ratio of males to females is higher for the farm population than it is for the total population except in three states.

If folks got as hungry for knowledge as they do for food who'd the wise men get to run errands for them?

Stocks, Bonds, and Financial News

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Contrasted with Thursday's exciting session, today's happenings on the stock exchange were prosaic. Trading slumped considerably below the rate maintained in the previous session and the forward movement was tempered with greater irregularity.

But the upward drift of prices was still decidedly in evidence and the day was not without its sensational moments in individual stocks.

Group strength was also manifested in various classes like the sugars, oils and motor accessories. To add to the new spirit of optimism prevailing in the speculative community, the New York federal reserve bank came out with a statement setting forth the most remarkable improvement effected in a single week. An increase of $51,000,000 in cash reserves pointed to an influx of funds from the interior on such a tremendous scale that lower call money rates seemed reasonably certain.

During the afternoon General Electric at one time was up four points and Westinghouse sold at 58 1/2, a high on their movement. Sugar continued to move ahead with Cuban American in greater prominence.

The market closed.

CARDINALS, BRUINS AWAIT 'BIG' GAME

Premier Football Struggle of Pacific Coast Sends Rivals Into Action

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Over in Berkeley and down at Stanford everything was set today for the premier football struggle of the Pacific coast.

In the new California memorial stadium tomorrow Stanford and California will play the annual "big game."

A crowd which will number between 70,000 and 80,000 people will look on. The walls of the great concrete bowl will echo for the first time to the college yells and resound with the college songs.

There will be colorful rooting sections and stands filled with young and old men and women—and everyone will wear either the red, rose or carnation of Stanford or the yellow chrysanthemum of California.

There have been big games in the past, but this is expected to be the biggest.

Attendance Record Broken

The crowd will be the largest which ever witnessed a football game on the Pacific coast. A total of 72,000 reserved seats have been sold. Of these, 69,000 went to students and alumni and the general public engaged in a wild scramble for the remaining 3,000. The receipts will be around $300,000.

And, as to the game itself, Stanford goes into it conceded better than a fighting chance to win for the first time since 1919. Many experts say it is a "tossup" as far as the game is concerned. Stanford has been beaten once this season, that time by the University of Southern California. California has not been beaten, but Nevada played the Bears to a scoreless tie. Both Stanford's defeat by U. S. C., and California's tie with Nevada, have been a little bit fluky. So they go to even up the records.

Reports from California are that every member of the team is fit, from Captain Don Nichols right down to the least eligible sub.

Cards Stars Injured

Stanford sends out word that Lawson, Shipley, and others are suffering from the rigors of previous games, but followers of football recall that not since history runneth has a "big game" come and gone without such from the "Stanford farm."

TROJANS TO BATTLE VANDALS TOMORROW

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—The U. S. C. Trojans have their last practice of the season behind them. Today and tomorrow will meet Idaho at the coliseum, which means a peek of trouble.

Gloomy Gus Henderson is gloomy no more. At the final practice he declared his squad was "in splendid shape and believe the Trojans have the punch and power to win."

Bob Mathews, Idaho coach, a royal good sportsman, has left the selection of officials up to Henderson. Henderson and his cohorts are going to it that Idaho gets the fairest possible deal.

Seven different passing formations that Idaho uses have the local lads worried. The vandals, famous for their open plays beginning with the old "Idaho spread," are expected to uncover a tricky offense tomorrow based on the work of Fitzke and Stivers.

Fitzke punts 50 and 60 yards consistently. This has Henderson worried because Otto Anderson and Dorsey can't hold their own against this kind of booting.

U. S. C., however, is the favorite. Idaho has made a long trip, and underwent a hard game last Saturday, whereas the Trojans had an easy time with Arizona. Mathews has a dearth of substitutes, and his first string men are all lightweights.

Michigan, Minnesota Lead Big Ten Games

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—With Zuppke's powerful Illinois practically conceded a victory over Ohio State tomorrow, interest in the football race in the big ten conference centered today on the game between Michigan and Minnesota at Ann Arbor.

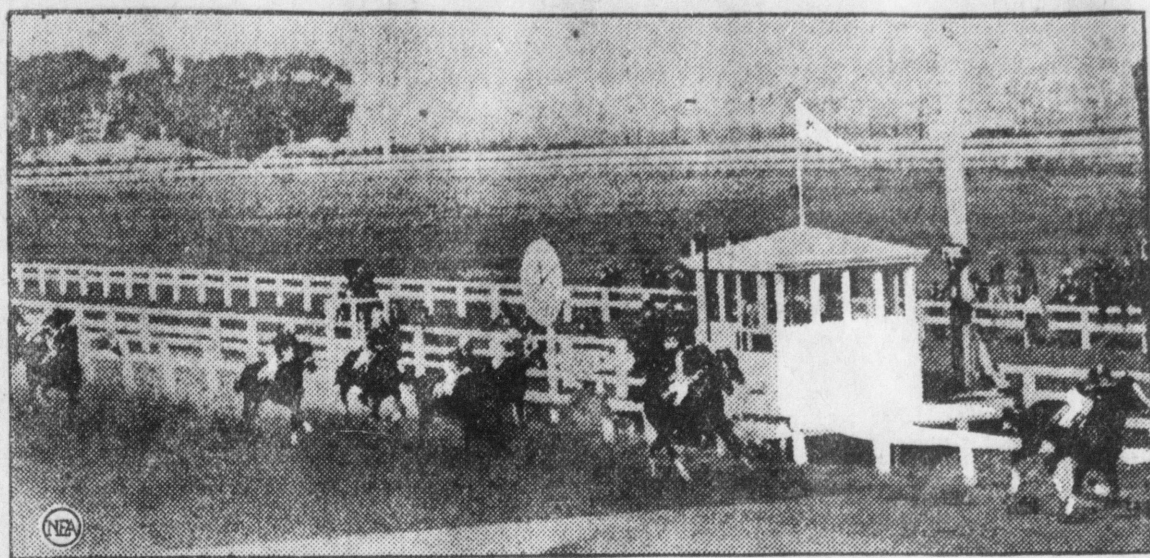

Michigan, crippled and somewhat battered by its hard-earned victory over Wisconsin last week, faces the hardest test of the season. Minnesota, led by the great triple attack of Martinez, hopes to dump the Wolverines from their position in a tie with Illinois for the title.

Martineau, slight of build, but fast and daring, is perhaps the greatest backfield man in the mid-west. On his slender but sturdy frame the northerners believe they can win.

HORSE RACING RETURNS TO CALIFORNIA

They're off! It is the first running race in California, after a long raceless era. It is being staged on the new track at Tanforan, just down the peninsula from San Francisco.

Football is on the third down tomorrow with one yard to go. The major teams that will not buck the last game over the line tomorrow will have their last down in the Thanksgiving Day games on next Thursday.

Activity in the east is almost entirely confined to the Yale-Harvard and the Army-Navy games and it is just as well that the schedule for the day is light, as there is hardly enough room for those two big classics of the season.

Yale and Harvard will play before 70,000 spectators in the Harvard stadium at Cambridge and the Army and Navy will battle before 65,000 in the Polo Grounds here.

The crowds that will be packed in for both games will be only a small part of the mob outside the games that would be looking on if they could find a place or a ticket.

Yale's return to the old days of great teams has greatly revived interest in the battle between the two ranking members of the "Big Three."

In the past three years, the Yale-Harvard game to the public has just been a game with a lot of tradition behind it and a game that presented an opportunity to display a high social position by getting hold of a ticket and boasting about it.

But with Yale standing for the championship of the east and the fact that Tad Jones' team will try to give Harvard the worst beating in its history, has aroused great interest. For some reason, large numbers of easterners like to see Harvard beaten, and while Yale is not the most popular university in the east, part of the public is behind any team that looks like a winner over Harvard.

If Yale does not beat Harvard tomorrow, Yale will feel like quitting football, and the east probably will vote: "You should quit."

Among the 65,000 that will gather in the Brush stadium tomorrow will be only army and navy officers, ranking politicians from Washington, cadets and midshipmen and those who "know" army and navy officers, politicians or cadets and midshipmen well enough to pry a ticket away from them.

"Jim" Tierney, the secretary of the Glants, who helped the Army officers handle the tickets, said that he could have disposed of 200,000 tickets if they had been available.

The only thing the matter with the Yale-Harvard and Army-Navy games is that there are no places large enough to accommodate the thousands that would like to see the games.

As far as the football side of it is concerned, there is a strong hunch that the Army will beat the Navy decisively, a hunch that is founded upon the form shown by the two teams in earlier games.

Notre Dame, coming eastward for the third time, visits Pittsburgh to play Carnegie Tech, a team that has presented no reasons this season for being considered an easy mark.

Kaute Rockne, however, should not have any worries, because Tech cannot put out the team that the Army and Princeton shot against the "Micks."

Cornell, Pennsylvania, Penn State, Pittsburgh, West Virginia, Washington and Jefferson, Columbia and Dartmouth are all resting in preparation for Thanksgiving games.

While competition is somewhat limited in the east and the south, where Georgia Tech, Auburn and other big teams have Thursday engagements, the middlewest will be enlivened by the biggest Saturday of the year.

The western conference closes its season with Ohio State playing Illinois; Iowa meeting Northwestern; Wisconsin going against Chicago, and Minnesota opposing Michigan.

Another interesting game in the west will find the strong Syracuse eleven, candidate for eastern honors, playing Nebraska, last year's leader of the Missouri Valley conference.

HAWAIIAN GRIDDERS ARRIVE AT POMONA

POMONA, Nov. 23.—Nineteen University of Hawaii football players, headed by Coach Otto Klum, are in Claremont today preparatory to playing Pomona college at Pasadena Thanksgiving day.

The Deans, after a 3500-mile trip, are in good condition. A special celebration was held last night by rooters from the local school for the visitors who will make their headquarters at Claremont for ten days.

FRANCES E. WILLARD, JULIA C. LATHROP JUNIOR HI GRIDDERS CLASH TOMORROW

Two City Institutions to Settle Championship In First Annual Football Struggle at Poly Field; Second Teams to Play Curtain-Raiser Tilt

THE LINEUPS:
WILLARD: Snow, Burrell, Area, Miller, Fitzgerald, Hoot, Watts, Birtcher, Harvey, Velarde, Tye (C), Referee, Murray, Ashleigh, linesman, Morrow (Orange), Timers, Noble and Adkinson.

LATHROP: Hill, Decker, Kirmse, Hersey, Gates, Martz, (C) Smith, Salisbury, Rye, or Nelson, Nieblas, Tucker, Umpire, Head linesman, Morrow (Orange), Timers, Noble and Adkinson.

The Frances E. Willard and the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school teams clash in their first annual football battle at Poly field tomorrow afternoon. A close and interesting game is expected.

Coach Archer of the Frances Willard school and Coach Reel of Julia Lathrop, state that both teams are in excellent condition for the fray. Reel said that he felt the teams evenly matched and while confident of victory for his squad he anticipated a game well worth watching.

As a curtain raiser to the game the second teams of the two schools will play at 1:15. The second teams are composed of smaller boys.

In addition to the two football games Henry's Bicycle club will put on some bicycle races. This diversion will be a pleasing addition to the regular program.

While the junior high schools do not have teams of high school strength the brand of football should be of such a caliber as to create intense interest. Each school will have a large rooting section.

A nominal admission charge will be made for adults. Junior high school pupils must present their student tickets.

Big Crowd Expected To Hear Card-Bruin Game Returns Here

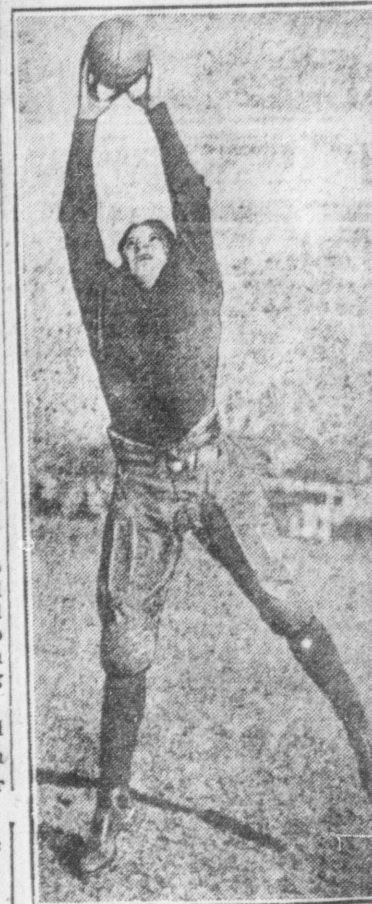

The largest crowd that ever gathered in Santa Ana to hear returns from a football game is expected to gather in front of The Register building tomorrow afternoon when this newspaper megaphones play by play results of the Stanford-California struggle for the Pacific Coast collegiate championship.

The Register's United Press wire, "cut in" to the California stadium, will fully cover the big game for the sport followers of the city. The game is scheduled to begin at 2:30 o'clock.

CORNELL SCRIMMAGES
ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 23.—After a hard scrimmage for more than an hour, Cornell reached the climax of its preparation for the Pennsylvania game in Philadelphia next Thursday. Only light work will be continued next week.

WISCONSIN READY
MADISON, Wis., Nov. 23.—Wisconsin ended practice, and with 10,000 rooters is ready for its "on to Chicago" trip. New plays have been added to the Badger list. Four veterans will oppose Chicago.

Illinois Halfback Looms As Certainty For High Grid Post

HAROLD ("RED") GRANGE, the wonder man of the University of Illinois football team. Although only a sophomore in college, Grange has starred in every game this season and is virtually certain to be named as All-American halfback. Grange leads the Illinois varsity against Ohio State tomorrow.

H. M. Davis, for the past two years head coach at the Orange high school, has resigned to accept a position as director of intramural athletics at Stanford University, it was learned here today. Davis will be succeeded by M. J. Berg, assistant athletic instructor.

Davis' resignation becomes effective January 1. At Stanford, it is understood, Davis will assist in the coaching of the Card freshmen basketball team.

ANAHEIM WOMAN DIES
At Home of Daughter

ANAHEIM, Nov. 23.—Yesterday was a lucky day for the basketball girls of the Anaheim high school. The first string squad, under the direction of Captain Mae Requarth, smothered the visiting Huntington Beach team by a score of 42 to 5.

The lightweight team, however, had a hard time in downing their ancient rivals from Fullerton by a count of 14 to 12.

DOPE FAVORS YALE VICTORY OVER FOE

Harvard Remains Hopeful
But Fears Old Eli at Last Due to Win

By HENRY L. FARRELL
BOSTON, Nov. 23.—Faith in the logic behind the ring proverb that "a game guy is as good as any jam" was the only thing that sustained Harvard's hopes as the Yale football squad piled into town today for the last battle of the "big three" across the river.

Here in Boston, the proximity to heart of Hartford, confidence in the Harvard varsity eleven had wavered to the point where the only hope expressed was "Harvard will fight and a fighting team always has a chance."

Boston Football Mad

For a big city, Boston takes its Harvard-Yale game seriously. Shop windows on the busy streets were filled with blue and crimson banners and conversation everywhere was confined to the game.

Most unusual was the trend of talk which was found revolving around discussion of Harvard's chances to win. For years it has been a question of how badly Yale would be beaten.

Harvard students know that the dope points against them this year and out of earshot of the squad they are insisting that Yale is a 7 to 2 bet. Yale money was being offered at this price also.

Hardly more than 50,000 can be accommodated in the Harvard stadium and more than 150,000 applications for tickets were turned down by the Harvard management, but no tickets were being peddled by the "specs" and the city was not complaining about being unable to see game.

Crimson Line Strong

Harvard admits the power of the Yale running attack and the comparative weakness of the Harvard backfield. But the crimson supporters insist that the Harvard line is stronger from tackle to tackle and that the superiority of these forwards will reduce if it does not actually stop the dashing Yale backs.

Harvard hopes also that Yale will go into the game with too much confidence and Harvard men are doing and saying everything to encourage Yale into believing that it has an unbeatable team.

Don't forget the flower bowl special at Goff's. Saturday.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Hubert Stane, who has been in prison, rescues Helen Yardley as her canoe travels toward a dangerous waterfall. Helen is niece to a governor of the Hudson Bay company. They are camping near a northern post of the company. Gerald Ainley, former friend of Stane, is in love with Helen. While Helen and Stane are walking the trail to the governor's camp, Stane is severely injured in a fall.

A forest fire breaks out and Helen builds a raft on which she and Stane flee from the flames. They find a deserted cabin.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

She turned and resumed her work and singing at the same time, and Stane lay there looking at her with the love shining plainly in his eyes.

The next day was spent in removal to the cabin further up the lake, both of them working at pulling the raft with all their stores. The cabin was well situated on a small bay, where a fair-sized stream emptied into the lake, and behind it stretched the forest, dark and impenetrable. As he hobbled through the open door, Stane looked round, and under the bunk discovered a number of steel traps which the girl on her first visit had overlooked. Also on a peg in a dark corner he found a set of dogs' harness hung just as the owner had left it, probably months before. He pointed the traps out to the girl.

"As I guessed, it is a trapper's cabin, Miss Yardley. Any day may bring the owner back."

Inside the cabin there was a little wood-pile, and with a few well-chosen logs and dried sticks she soon had the stove roaring and then began to bestow their possessions tidily. By the time that was accomplished the shadows were creeping across the lake and deepening in the woods, and it was time for the evening meal, and when it was ready they ate it at the rough table, with a sense of safety and comfort that had long been lacking. "This place is quite cozy," said Helen, looking round the firelit cabin. "Tomorrow I shall make a curtain for the doorway out of caribou skin."

She broke off suddenly and a sparkle of interest came in her eyes. Pointing to the pile of wood in the corner she cried: "Mr. Stane, I am sure there is something hidden under that wood."

Stane started and stared at the stacked-up logs, a slight look of apprehension on his face. The girl laughed as she caught the look. "It is nothing to be alarmed at; but those logs are misleading I am sure, for at one place I can see something gleaming. What it is I don't know, but I am going to find out."

Rising quickly, she began to throw down the logs and presently uncovered a large square tin that at some time or another had contained biscuits. Pursuing her investigations she uncovered two similar tins and for a moment stood regarding them with curious eyes. Then she lifted one.

"What is it?" asked Stane. "I don't know. It looks like—wait a minute!" She took a small pinch of the contents and lifting it to her mouth, tasted it. "Flour!"

"Flour!" You don't say?" "You seem delighted!" she said wonderingly.

"I am," he replied. "But—well I don't exactly see why! If it were gold, I could understand. One always finds gold in these deserted cabins, according to the story-books. And we find flour—and you rejoice!"

"I do," answered Stane joyfully. "Miss Yardley, that flour is a god-send. We were very short, as you told me, only a pound or two left, and I was afraid that we might have to live on meat and fish alone, and you don't know what that means. I do! I lived for three weeks on moose-meat last winter and I haven't forgotten it yet. For Heaven's sake open the other tin."

The girl obeyed him, and presently the remaining tins revealed their contents. One held about nine pounds of rice and the other was three parts filled with beans.

To Stane the discovery of the stores was a great relief, far greater than the girl knew, for they were in a good game country, but he knew the danger of a meat diet alone, and now that for the time being that danger was eliminated, he was correspondingly relieved; the more so when two mornings later, the door of the hut being opened they beheld a thin powdering of shot-like snow.

"Winter is here!" said Helen, a little sobered at the sight of the white pall.

"Yes," he answered. "You found this but just in time."

No more snow fell for over a fortnight, and during that time, despite the cold, Stane spent many hours practicing walking without crutches. Then at the close of a dull, dark day the wind began to blow across the lake, whistling and howling in the trees behind, and the cold it brought with it penetrated the cabin, driving them closer to the stove. All night it blew, and once, waking behind the tent canvas with which the bunk where she slept was screened, the girl caught a rattle on the wooden walls of the cabin, that sounded as if it were being peppered with innumerable pellets. Seated by the stove after breakfast, Helen was startled by a brace of cracks like those of a pistol. She started up.

"What was that?" Some one fired—

"No!" answered Stane quickly. "Just a couple of trees whose hearts have burst with the cold. There will be no one abroad this weather."

But in that, as events proved, he was mistaken. For when, in the early afternoon, wrapped in the garments which the girl had manufactured at their old camp, they ventured forth, not twenty yards away from the hut Stane came suddenly upon a broad snow-shoe trail. At the sight of it he stopped dead. "What is it?" asked the girl quickly.

"Some one has been here," he said, in a curious voice. Without saying anything further he began to follow the trail, and within a few minutes realized that whoever had made it had come down the lake and had been so interested in the cabin as to walk all around it. The tracks of the great webbed-shoes spoke for themselves and even Helen could read the signs plainly.

CHAPTER XIV

Mysterious Visitors

It was snowing again, driving across the lake in the hard wind and drifting in a wonderful wreath about the cabin. To go out of doors would have been the uttermost folly, and Stane buried himself in the fashioning of snow-shoes which now would be necessary before they could venture far afield. The girl was engaged in preparing a meal, and the cabin had an air of domesticity that would probably have utterly misled any stranger who had chanced to look in.

Helen stooped over the pan, and then announced: "I think this mess of savory venison is ready, and I don't believe our cook at home could have done it half so well. If my lord the cobbler will put away the snowshoes we will dine, and after the washing up I will sleep."

Then the stillness was broken by a sound outside. Both of them heard it, and listened carefully.

"Crunch! crunch! crunch!"

Some one on snow-shoes was walking round the cabin. Whoever it was had halted by the door. Was he coming in? Half a minute passed during which they waited without moving, then Stane flashed a look at his companion. She was leaning forward, a look of curiosity and expectancy on her face, but not a single sign of fear.

He rose slowly from his seat, put the unfinished snowshoes on the table, and crept towards the door. The bar stuck, and when at last he threw the door open, and stepped outside he knew that he was too late. He looked into the gathering night. His first swift glance was towards the dark shadows under the trees. There was no one there. He swung round towards the lake, and dimly through the darkness described a figure retreating rapidly northwards.

The retreating figure never paused, and never looked round, but kept on in a beeline over the untrodden snow.

"You saw him?" Helen cried in some excitement.

"No, I saw her!" answered Stane. "It was a woman."

Helen's surprise was as complete as his own had been.

He waited a moment, then he uttered the thought which had been in his mind.

"When the storm is over and there is a crust on the snow we will go exploring together. We may find the camp from which this woman comes. If the air keeps still through the night, it will be quite easy to follow her trail in the snow."

But in the night there was both wind and snow and on the morrow the woman's trail was quite obliterated and the snow on the lake made traveling impossible. Helen Yardley noted the fact with-out regret.

"There will be no exploring party today," she said, "so I will go and look at my rabbit snares."

"And I will accompany you," answered Stane, "the walk in the snow will help to take the stiffness out of my leg."

They set out together, but had gone but a little way when the girl gave a sharp "Hist!"

"What is it?" he asked quietly, thinking that she had seen game of some kind.

"There is a man in those bushes in front of us," she answered in a whisper.

They advanced together, Stane with his rifle ready for action, since a presence that avoided them might well prove to be an inimical one. He watched the bushes steadily as they advanced but saw nothing and when they reached them, thinking that the girl had been mistaken, he thrust his way through them. Then he stood quite still with an anxious look upon his face. There was no one behind the bushes, but there were the marks of maccasined feet in the snow.

CHAPTER XV

A Face at the Tent-Door

"LOOK!" cried Helen. "Look!"

They had almost reached the cabin on the return journey and were full in view of the lake.

"WESTERN BLOOD" OPENS AT PRINCESS TONIGHT

"Western Blood," featuring Pete Morrison at the Princess theater tonight and Saturday is five reels of love, thrills and intrigue, woven into the texture of this unusual story of the great southwest.

You could see the way the heartless Jackson plays upon the love of the girl, threatening to dash her lover down to his death in the deep ravine over which his body is helplessly dangling from a rope which Jackson is threatening to cut, and then see—but that would be telling the story which we advise that you do not miss under any circumstances, as it represents a true and thrilling chapter of life on the cattle ranches of the West.

"BIG DAN" OPENS RUN AT WEST END TONIGHT

Social peculiarities and fistic muscularities furnish Charles Jones' most recent production, "Big Dan," with a speedometer whose average register breaks even that lightning star's record for speed. It is announced as the feature attraction of the West End theater tonight and tomorrow.

Nothing seems more appropriate than a ring-side background for Charles Jones. The tall, broad and square-jawed star seems to fit adequately a pugilistic setting. This is provided or him in "Big Dan," whose titular role he takes modestly.

WALLACE BEERY AS KING

Wallace Beery, who plays the role of Philip IV. in Pola Negri's new picture, "The Spanish Dancer," now showing at the Temple, has been twice king of England, once king of a topsy-turvy musical comedy land and in this picture he presides over one of the most powerful courts of medieval Europe.

His first experience as a royal personage was in a Henry V. Savage musical comedy in New York, when he appeared as a rollicking monarch, King Dodo. Since that time he has twice worn the crown of England, each time as that famous warrior king, Richard the Lion Hearted.

In making up for the role of Philip IV., Beery used Valasquez for his model and faithfully followed the painting of the Spanish monarch made by that famous artist. The costumes worn are also carefully designed from those shown in the Valasquez paintings.

In "The Spanish Dancer" Pola Negri appears as the fiery girl whose beauty and brilliant personality carries her from a roadside camp into the heart of Philip's court.

Antonio Moreno is the featured player. Heading the supporting cast are Wallace Beery, Kathryn Williams, Gareth Hughes and Adolphe Menjou.

"THE MAN ALONE" DUE AT YOST SATURDAY

Lascars are brave seamen. That is what we are led to believe, any way, by the authors of novel length "thrillers."

But Hobart Bosworth thinks different. In "The Man Alone," which comes to the Yost theater Saturday, Bosworth used the engine and boiler room of a British tramp steamer for one of the most important scenes of the production.

Practical Notes on the S. S. Lesson

Prepared for The Register by Cal. Ogburn

Lesson for Nov. 25, John 17:18; Matt. 28:16-20; Acts 1:6-8
CHRISTIANS CALLED TO BE MISSIONARIES

"As thou didst send me into the world," John 17:18. Not the least remarkable thing about Jesus Christ was his ability to transmit to others his enthusiasm for service. He was no Jesus searching for the "Golden Fleece," nor a Ponce de Leon exploring remote regions in his quest for the fountain of immortal youth. Had he been either, we might well understand how others would light their own from his blazing torch of enthusiasm.

Only let a man raise the cry, "If you want gold, come with me, and I will lead you to the true El Dorado!" and his voice carries far, and multitudes quit their occupations and flock about him and the golden ensign that he bears. It was so in the mad rush to California in "days of '49." It was so in the exodus to the Klondike. The mad rush to service, unrequited labor, drudgery. He said of himself, "The toises have holes, and the birds of the heaven nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head." It was He—this homeless man of the despised town of Nazareth, without distinction, or recognition from those in authority—who inaugurated such a service as the world never dreamed of.

The writer of the Acts (10:38) says that "He went about doing good." This too was something that nobody ever had done before. His was an enthusiasm, not for gold or glory, but for the world a better place for all to live in. With him there was no distinction of rank or wealth, good or evil. All shared and shared alike and equal to their several needs, in his wonderful generosity in helping them. It was this spirit that he engendered in his followers—a thing never before imagined. And he rewarded them with gold!—with gold like that used in paving the streets of the New Jerusalem! We can easily imagine that Jesus—had He not been the Christ—might have used his miracle-working power to amass a fortune. But though in direct poverty, not one of them ever prostituted this divin gift to getting gain.

The world is now so deep with the conviction that the man who would make merchandise of the gospel, or use his Christian profession for getting either gain or glory, is beneath contempt. Somehow, when Jesus instituted unselfish service, He touched a responsive chord in human hearts the world over. "As thou didst send me into the world"—not to obtain wealth, seek the applause of men, or even secure for myself the comforts of a modest home, but to be a servant of others—"even so sent I them into the world."

This spirit is fundamental to the success of Christian missions. In every instance where it has been exemplified the response, though often not instantaneous, has in the end been most gratifying. This spirit prompted Junipero Serra and his co-workers in the establishment of a chain of missions extending from San Diego to San Francisco. Then, in the midst of their success, came the secularization of these missions and the consequent destruction of what had been so patiently and unselfishly wrought.

So also has this untainted spirit of Christlike service entered into the establishment and maintenance of Protestant missions the wide world over. This key fact of Christianity is the paskey to the common human heart. Not only will it unlock the heart that is bolted and barred by age-old heathen superstitions, but it will open the door of the affections of the miser and the miserly. "Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations," Matt. 28:19. Just how was this to be done? Well, Jesus might have explained, had any explanation been necessary. "Tell the world what you heard me say and saw me do, and the result will be that people will become like me—if you will do good to others, and be as near like me in character and conduct as you can."

To the extent that he does this, everyone holds—or may hold—the secret and the power to aid in the world's regeneration. By co-operating with others, he may usher in the millennium. Paradise may be regained. The ills and evils of mankind will disappear, as darkness flees before the rising sun. "War!" This greatest of all sins will linger only in the pages of ancient history, that our children's children, with blanched faces, will read occasionally. If Jesus and a mere handful of followers, and they homeless, poverty-stricken, and without reputation among the rulers of nations, could revolutionize so much of the world in so short a time, surely He and a vast multitude of His disciples can now bring about a peaceful conquest of the whole world.

Royal Society Gives Medal to Pasadena

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—Dr. Robert A. Millikan, Pasadena, of the California Institute of Technology, was today in receipt of notification that he has been awarded the Hughes' medal by the Royal Society of London.

The Royal Society, one of the world's most learned bodies, annually gives the medal to one selected as its most worthy recipient. Dr. Millikan was chosen because of his notable contribution to scientific progress in isolating and measuring the electron. He was recently awarded the Nobel prize for physics.

ELKS' CHARITY SHOW SCORES HERE ANEW

With the Elks' charity show, "The King of Kokomo," scheduled to close tonight, indications were that Yost's theater will be taxed to its capacity, according to a forecast made early today by W. W. Wassner, secretary of Santa Ana lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E.

"Last night's attendance," Wassner said, "was even better than on the opening night, and we have every reason to feel that there will be a big turnout for the final show tonight."

With a number of first-night crutches ironed out, last night's performance, according to many who attended both performances, was exceptionally fine. Merle Ramsey, xylophone expert, substituting for the Orange quartette, made a distinct hit with the big audience. He was accompanied by his daughter, Dorothy. Prolonged applause rewarded the efforts of the capable chorus, and many of the individual numbers were again well received. Robert Bradford, a youth with a voice of magnificent possibilities, again demonstrated his ability to reach the hearts of his hearers, while Elmer Heidt's dancing and singing numbers, set off by Scotch costume, were liberally applauded. Dancing numbers by Miss Lynn, Miss Tubbs and the Robeson sisters were well received, as were Bobby Davis and his military bellhops. Donald Hopkins and Davis again carried the brunt of the comedy bits interspersed with the musical numbers.

Musical accompaniments, somewhat ragged on the opening night because of lack of opportunity for adequate rehearsal, were far better at last night's performance. The show moved along with the smoothness of a well-trained road organization.

FALSE TEETH RETURN
RIVERSIDE, Cal., Nov. 22.—Conductor Elmer Post's false teeth, which delayed a Union Pacific overland train here fifteen minutes while Post searched unsuccessfully for them along the track, have been returned to their owner. Policeman Gordon found the plate, undamaged, in a small bush. Post is again calling "all aboard."

BOOSTER TALKS BRING MANY TO RESIDE

D. W. McDannald, publicity director for the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, dropped into The Register office today to express his appreciation of The Register's co-operation and support in his work, incidentally discoursed upon its character and results.

"I love my work," said McDannald, "because it is like sowing seeds that may germinate this season, or next or not for years, but they never die. Sooner or later they bear fruit."

"For instance, during the last county fair, I was introduced to Mrs. Bartholomew, now living on Lemon Heights. She said she met me in Chicago, at the land show during the winter of 1913, and that the talk she heard me make at that time induced them to come to Orange county. Several of their friends and relatives have settled here in consequence of their coming."

"Albert Appling hailed me on the street one day not long ago, and informed me that it had been five years since he followed me out of the lecture room in Los Angeles and got the impressions that made him a resident of this city."

"Donald J. Dodge was influenced to locate here through the talks in the Los Angeles lecture room. 'I came on an inspection tour through the county with Oscar Brunett, now of Placentia. He bought twenty acres, then, and has purchased more lands since, and some of his folks have located here.'"

"Major William DeSombre, of North street, Anaheim, came to the county on my recommendation, and has brought several more of his family here to become tax payers. 'I met George Marcy in the Los Angeles chamber of Commerce the first time he came here and told him of the beauties of Orange county. He is now one of our substantial boosters.'"

PROPOSERS OF BOXING GIVE UP FIGHT

Proposers of boxing in Orange county will not attempt a referendum on the ordinance the board of supervisors passed Tuesday prohibiting exhibitions in unincorporated territory in the county, according to a statement made here today by James L. Allen, attorney for the protesters.

"Prepared referendum of the ordinance was dropped on my advice," said the attorney. "I do not believe it would avail anything. The supervisors acted in accordance with what they believed to be the popular sentiment of the residents of the county."

According to the attorney, there will be no further attempt by his clients to revive the matter.

SEEK GYPSY THIEVES

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—Police were to stop four automobile loads of gypsies before they entered Los Angeles today.

Two women who are charged with stealing $300, jewelry and clothing from a home in Phoenix, Ariz., are believed to be with the caravan, according to reports to the sheriff's office.

Ex-Nun's Attack On Catholics Is Cause Of Riot at Lecture

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 22.—Two women were under arrest today following a near riot which occurred here during a lecture by Mrs. C. Peet on alleged Catholic confessional practices.

Mrs. Peet, who said she was an ex-nun, was knocked down and beaten by Mrs. J. P. Gho, who rushed on the stage and interrupted the address.

Both women were badly bruised before other women in the audience separated them.

Mrs. Peet told police she had been a Nun in the St. Joseph La Campete convent at Marseilles, France. She renounced Catholicism while in a convent in Mandalay, upper Burma, she said, and came to America in 1917 to lecture.

Red Cross Aid to Disabled Ex-Service Men Increasing

DISABLED VETERANS IN HOSPITALS RECEIVE INDIVIDUAL AID FROM RED CROSS WORKERS

Washington—Five years after the armistice ending the World War, reports of American Red Cross services in behalf of the men who wore the uniform of the United States refute any belief which might exist that the wounds of that conflict are nearly healed. In urging an increase in membership enrollment during the Red Cross Roll Call opening on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, facts convincingly supported by authoritative statistics are issued by the national organization showing that assistance was extended by the Red Cross to about 200,000 former service men or their families, and 32,296 instances of definite and specialized aid to men in hospitals were noted in the past year.

In all hospitals 34,793 soldier patients were registered, while from March to October dispensaries and out-patient clinics gave 14,845 treatments and 22,809 examinations. On Sept. 1 there were 3,278 former service men undergoing vocational training, all of which indicates that the Red Cross in supplementing the work of the government physicians and nurses by helping to make the patient, contented, by allaying worry over his family, furnishing personal services and providing recreation and entertainment, has an increasingly large work to do in this paramount activity.

In this activity $5,866,255 was expended by Red Cross Chapters and the national organization during the last year. One problem in which the Red Cross alone is meeting a financial demand is that of the transient disabled ex-service man and his family who must be cared for while traveling from place to place. In personal loans and grants to these travelers $138,334.71 was spent during the year. The variety of Red Cross service also embraces straightening out complicated claims, supplying recreational equipment to veterans' training centers, furnishing capital loans to blind veterans that enable them to begin business, hospital service, medical social service information service, recreation and entertainment.

Wintersburg, Smeltzer

WINTERSBURG & SMELTZER, Nov. 23.—Esther Levina Johnson, daughter of Wesley and Mary E. Clemens was born in Hitchcock Dakota, September 12, 1887, departed this life at Wilmington, California, November 14, 1923, aged 36 years, two months and two days.

She was married to Charles A. Johnson, September 13th, 1905, at Santa Ana, California.

To this union six children were born, all of whom survive her. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, six children, namely: Irvin, Edward, Cecil, Ernest and Bertha, a loving mother, six sisters and three brothers, her father having preceded her to that better land several years ago, and also leaves a host of loving relatives and friends.

She was of a loving disposition, always looking after the pleasures and comforts of others. A dear mother who loved her home and family. Regaining consciousness for a few moments she said to her sister "I was in such a pretty place, I wish they would take me back again."

All that human hands could do for her restoration to health was done, but to no avail.

On Friday morning at ten o'clock the funeral services were conducted at the Smith and Tut-bill chapel, Santa Ana, Rev. J. Scott Willmarth, pastor of the Wintersburg Methodist church taking the subject of his talk from the fourteenth chapter of John.

Musical selections were by Chester Nuckolls of Santa Ana. Interment was in the Fairhaven cemetery.

Miss Dorothy Shryock left Sunday for Los Angeles to assist her sister in the care of her small nephew who was severely scalded when he pulled a percolator of boiling coffee off the stove, the fluid pouring over him.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Forest, sister and brother-in-law of Mrs. Ray Moore and Miss Sue Russell were Sunday guests of the E. Ray Moores. Mr. and Mrs. Forest are occupying apartments at the J. J. Graham home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Graham were at Puente for the day Monday as guests of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lyons.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ellis, Mrs. Chapman and son, all of Los Angeles, were entertained Sunday at the David Russell home. Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Russell are sisters.

SOLON'S WIFE WANTS COW AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Magnus Johnson, wife of the new senator from Minnesota, went house-hunting here, just like "plain folks."

"We'd like to have a place where we could keep a cow," she said.

"I shall like Washington, I know but I do love the farm. I've always worked, like the rest of the family, around our place. We had cows to milk and I helped milk them."

Both the Senator and I want to keep a cow here.

"City people probably will laugh at us, but we do love the country and country things."

So Mrs. Johnson, instead of inspecting some of the marble mansions customarily inhabited by senators, went out to Takoma Park where the little houses stand by themselves, neat, attractive bungalows and cottages with backyards and trees.

As she started the expedition, accompanied by the senator from Minnesota Mrs. Johnson laid down certain specifications as follows:

The home must be "in or near the country."

There must be space for a cow and perhaps even for chickens.

The home must be in a community where the neighbors will not "turn up their noses" if she milks the cow or cooks her husband's dinner herself.

Mrs. Johnson's manner is one of friendly simplicity. She radiates good health and good humor. Her chief interests, she said simply, are her husband and children.

QUACK DOCTORS PUT TO ROUT BY PROBE

(By United Press Leased Wire)
HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 22.—Detectives today were put on the trail of half a dozen quack doctors who fled from Connecticut when the grand jury began investigation of malpractice in this state. With the grand jury in recess, Foreman Benedict M. Holden was going over evidence already adduced preparatory to asking bench warrants for arrest of the quacks and meanwhile the suspects will be kept under surveillance.

Grand jury investigation of the activities of "doctors" who, armed with credentials from a Missouri "diploma mill" boldly hung out their shingles in Connecticut, will be resumed as soon as the present mass of evidence has been thoroughly gone over.

SUSPECTS WIFE PLOT BURNS FEET OF MAN

LONG BEACH, Nov. 23.—W. A. Braydon, sewing machine salesman, is undergoing treatment at a local hospital for blistered feet which he claims were burned by Melvin Stuart, a hardware clerk, who believed Braydon was over-familiar with Mrs. Stuart.

Braydon called at the Stuart home several months ago, it is said, and offered to engage Mrs. Stewart as an assistant solicitor. He agreed to pay her 10 for each prospect she gave him to whom he sold a sewing machine.

Police refused to take any action.

Behind Their Advertising Is Sincere Service

In a very real sense every store and shop in Santa Ana is a public service enterprise.

The merchant who supplies you with Clothing, Food, Furniture—everything in fact—prosper only in so far as he subserves his interests to that of his patrons. This sounds elementary, but many people in reading the advertising columns, do not fully appreciate the fact that it is their interests the merchant serves in his daily announcements.

The business men of Santa Ana, however, are fully aware of their public service functions and show it by such phrases as these which are occurring in greater and greater numbers in advertisements: "Our store is your store." "It is only by fully satisfying you that we can satisfy ourselves."

A vivid understanding of their true position as directors of Public Service Enterprises lies at the foundation of the success built by the merchants who advertise in The SANTA ANA REGISTER.

"Service to you" is the message which their announcements bring you. Read them with the true understanding of what they mean and add to service the fact that shops and stores are fascinating now with their Festival of Fall and Winter Styles.

Entirely apart from any desire to buy, they invite you to come and taste the keen enjoyment which lovers of beauty take in beholding lovely things.

When you make your choice you will find price, style, quality all combined in that satisfactory degree which constitutes a real Service.

Read the advertising in The SANTA ANA REGISTER every day as a means to the realization of the service which it represents, and which means comfort in shopping and satisfaction in your choice.

OIL WELLS IN ANAHEIM GO UNDER BAN

ANAHEIM, Nov. 23.—Day dreams of Anaheim property owners, who have cherished visions of oil wells squirting gobs of liquid gold all over the back yard, were shattered last night when the board of trustees passed at its final reading the much-discussed ordinance prohibiting the drilling of oil wells on practically all of the property included in the city limits.

Prompted by the Standard Oil company's wildcat test near the edge of the city, the trustees passed the ordinance over the protests of scores of citizens.

When the matter was first brought up more than two months ago, a great deal of opposition was expressed, especially by acreage within the corporate limits which had not yet been subdivided. The board's action last night, however, is not considered final. If Anaheim becomes the center of a productive field, the opposing faction plans to institute proceedings to bring the matter to a popular vote.

Posse Seeks Slayer Of Mother and Babe

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 23.—A posse headed by county officials tramped through the swamps near here today in search of the negro who murdered Mrs. Agnes Muddie and her baby daughter, Mrs. Muddie's body, slashed with a razor and hatchet cuts, was found by her husband when he returned from work. ## GARDEN GROVE PIONEER DIES THURSDAY

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 13.—After living in this section for thirty-seven years, during which time she became a friend to hundreds of the community, Mrs. Emma Holly, 78 years old, died suddenly at her home on Ocean boulevard here last night. Funeral arrangements had not been completed today.

Mrs. Holly was taken sick Saturday evening. She leaves two sons, R. E. Oldfield and Ray Holly of Garden Grove, one daughter, Mrs. Grace Shaffer of Seattle, three sisters, Mrs. Ruth Chaffee of Garden Grove, Mrs. Isabel Helm of Fullerton, and a Mrs. Dutman of Missouri, one brother, S. Ambrose of Garden Grove.

JAIL YOUTH IN SHIP SAVES PLANE CREW IN SEA CRASH

(By United Press Leased Wire) LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—Edwin H. Carlton, 21-year-old youth, who made the brag that he "was willing to pay the penalty of the law if caught," faced the possibility today of having to make good the boast, following his arrest last night on the steamer Humboldt at San Pedro harbor on a charge of killing Special Officer "Bob" Magee.

Carlton, police claim, Wednesday night attempted to burglarize a fashionable Wilshire home, when Magee and Patrolmen N. W. Luke and E. G. Brown closed in on the house. Carlton and his wife, Jeanne, were in an upstairs room when the officers arrived. As two of the officers started up the stairs, Carlton is alleged to have fired, killing Magee and wounding Luke.

Wife Confesses. He and his wife leaped from an upstairs window. Carlton escaped but his wife sprained an ankle. She was arrested. Nine hours later she confessed and named her husband as the slayer.

Carlton, an asserted deserter from the U. S. S. Arizona, was arrested with Renee Garrison, a friend of his wife's, who had been living with them. Police say she had nothing to do with the crime.

The accused man told police that he and the Garrison girl mingled with the crowd in front of the police hospital following the shooting to learn how badly the officers were wounded and whether or not his wife had escaped.

Although refusing to confess to the shooting, police say, Carlton admitted that he was in the house at the time it happened. He claimed a mysterious "Jack" whose last name he didn't know, fired the fatal bullets.

Married Week Ago. Carlton and his wife had been married but a week. Oddly enough, they will probably be tried for the murder of Magee in the building where they were married—the Hall of Records. The county grand jury indicted the pair following the woman's confession.

Magee was the second special officer of that name killed in the city within a year. Sam Magee, bank guard, was shot down on the street by a group of unidentified bandits.

Carlton enlisted in the navy in Seattle and deserted, according to naval records, November 15, in the local harbor. He is the son of Guy Carlton, of Seattle, killed there, according to the police, in a quarrel over a woman.

EASTERNERS IN GREAT INFUX TO CALIF.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—Travel over the Santa Fe for October, both east and west-bound, exceeded all previous monthly records of the passenger movement to the coast, and was 5,000 greater than in October, 1922, which was the high water mark of tourist business to California, according to James B. Duffy, general passenger agent of the lines.

In analyzing this immense travel to this state it is shown that the travel was 40 per cent above October last year, west-bound, and 25 per cent heavier east-bound than for the same period in 1922.

October not being a month during which tourist rates were effective for east-bound travel, the 25 per cent increase is pointed to as a very good illustration of the enormous business development that is going on on the coast, and also it is indicative, the officials say, that big affairs relating to agricultural, industrial and manufacturing enterprises, are demanding the attention of an army of men who find it profitable to travel between California and the big centers of the east while carrying on this steadily increasing business.

The Santa Fe chief also points to the fact that the number of that railroad from May to and including September, this year was 30 per cent greater than the travel to this way for the same period last year. In fact, it has been shown that all estimates made by the traffic officials as to the outlook for a big passenger business this year have been exceeded in every case. Duffy predicts an even greater increase in the tourist and homeseeker travel to this state for the remaining weeks of this year, and for all of 1924.

Just back from Chicago, the general passenger agent declared the conditions are improving and people as a rule are learning more about the wonderful summers in California, and are no longer of the opinion that the state is a wintering place only.

SAYS PHYSICAL EDUCATION IS NO NEW FAD

Thirty-two states, including California, have adopted a physical education program and others are preparing to do so, said J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools, here today, in making a statement in connection with Education week, which ends tomorrow.

"Physical education is not a new wrinkle or fad," Cranston continued, "since it has survived many centuries.

"The ancient Greeks divided their subjects of study into music and gymnastics. Each youth was trained in the gymnasium. The heroes of Greek literature were those who received the olive crown as the winner of some event in the Olympic games. The passage of time was even marked by these games, every fourth year being an Olympiad.

"Physical education is necessarily an integral part of general education. The whole child goes to school, both body and mind. The American public school has until recently tried to develop the mind of the individual without thought of the body.

"The modern physical education program calls for games for all—for games which call into play the fundamental muscle groups involved in running, jumping, throwing, and climbing; all form a large part of the program.

"Story plays, rhythmic-action plays, and running games for the very tiny tots; folk dancing, competitive athletics, organized games, and stimulating mass drills for the older children are the tools with which the teacher has to work."

In citing the fact that the constitution makes provision for the education of future generations, as well as the present, Cranston quoted from a statement made by George Washington, as follows:

"Knowledge is in every country the surest basis of public happiness. In one in which the measures of government receive their impressions so immediately from the sense of the community as in ours it is proportionably essential. To the security of a free constitution it contributes in various ways: By convincing those who are intrusted with the public administration that every valuable end of government is best answered by the enlightened confidence of the people, and by teaching the people themselves to know and value their own rights; to discern and provide against invasions of them; to distinguish between oppression and the necessary exercise of lawful authority, between burdens proceeding from a disregard to their convenience and those resulting from the inevitable exigencies of society; to discriminate the spirit of liberty from that of licentiousness, cherishing the first, avoiding the last, and uniting a speedy but temperate vigilance against encroachments with an inviolable respect to law."

'BUFFALO BILL' TYPE FARMER OPTIMIST

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 23.—

James F. Hanson, six feet tall, long white hair and beard of the "Buffalo Bill" type, took the witness stand in the freight rate reduction hearing and defended the rewards of his vocation—farming.

Hanson, who owns 9,000 acres of land in Nebraska and has other large holdings in Colorado and Kansas, stalked unheralded into the room where the interstate commerce commission is hearing arguments on a freight rate reduction to benefit the farmer.

"I have been reading in the papers about statements made at the hearing that the farmer is in a worse financial condition than ever before in history," Hanson began, after asking to be permitted to testify.

"That is false and slanders the business ability of the American farmer. I resented such statements, which tend to depress the entire agricultural business and I came to Kansas City to see that the truth is presented at this hearing."

Hanson said he desired to take himself out of the class of witnesses who "know all about the farm without ever having done any work on it."

"Conditions were infinitely worse during the grasshopper invasion, and in the '80's than at the present time," said the rugged farmer of the old frontier type.

ANAHEIM WOMEN PRESENT PLAY AT SCHOOL

ANAHEIM, Nov. 23.—When the Business and Professional Women's Club of Anaheim presents "Phoebe," a musical comedy, at the high school auditorium tonight, the ballet will be led by Miss Gretchen Holland, one of Anaheim's most talented dancers.

She takes the part of Bacchus in the "Festival of Wine," one of the outstanding features of the performance, which illustrates the revels at the marriage feast of Bacchus and Ariadne. Opportunity is offered for the introduction of remarkably beautiful color effects in the costumes of the dancers.

Those who support her are the Misses Blonda Keithby and Dora Knutzen, fruit bearers; Ruth Desch, Madelyn Compton, Peggy Paige and Laura Perry, dancing girls; Ruth Pettey, Mary Ellen Quill, Modesta Van Booven, Vida Sutherland, Virginia Noll, Irma Walalce, Violet Boege, Frances Merrill, Violet Finch, Elsie Desch, Lucy Morgan, Lucille Hatfield, Velda Durham and Violet Grant.

The leading part in the comedy is taken by Mrs. Helen Harden, prominent young business woman and social leader in Anaheim. Other parts are taken by Miss Irene Jaques, Ashleigh Chamorlain, Harry Horn, Harold Kahla, Gladys Dickerson, Elsie Schellens, Blanche Bell, Eugene Beattie and Lillian Degrise. Ten young girls wear gorgeous Oriental robes in the Chinese chorus, and twenty additional performers give the background and furnish the atmosphere for the production.

The musical comedy is expected to finance the Business and Professional Women's club activities for the coming year. The organization has just completed the purchase of more than $100 worth of playground equipment for the new city park, and has made plans for a great deal of charity work during the holiday season.

TO BEGIN LAYING OF BEACH PAVING

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 23.—Work on the laying of the pavement on Ocean avenue will begin here Friday, or the latter part of next week, it was definitely announced here today by Contractor G. M. Souter.

The plant, which was recently completed for the manufacture of the paving material, is already to start work and with the cleaning off of the dirt from the last two blocks yet to be completed, work is soon scheduled to start.

According to statement by Souter the paving will begin at Eighth street and will run out toward the city limits. The material will be hauled to the construction grounds in the five huge trucks which have been used to carry off the dirt from the road. The pavement laid one day will provide a road for the trucks to travel on to lay the remainder of the street, it is said.

"We intend to subject the material to a grueling test," Mr. Souter said. "If it will not stand the strain of having our trucks run over it, then no other trucks could go over it and it will be torn up and rebuilt, if it should get rough." Some of the material should get a severe test from the constant passage of the heavy trucks over it from Eighth street to the city limits.

OIL TOOLS LOST IN WELL TROUBLE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 23.—In an effort to overcome sand troubles, which have prevented the development of one of the wells in the southeast end of the field belonging to the Golden Dome Oil company tools were lost and the company is now engaged in a fishing job.

According to officials of the company the well has been sanding up regularly but when clean will produce about 1500 barrels. An effort was being made to install tubing when the tools were lost. Drillers of the well claim that they will recover the tools soon.

The Central Oil company is progressing rapidly on their well here, it is said. A depth of about 3200 feet has been reached, it is claimed, with some good oil showings.

The Standard Oil company owns practically all of the supposedly favorable oil territory between Newport Beach and Huntington Beach, it was learned today.

"Dangerous Age" Is Discussed At Brea

BREA, Nov. 23.—At a regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of the Laurel school, Tuesday afternoon, the subject of the "Dangerous Age" was discussed.

After the usual business meeting, Mrs. J. F. Schweitzer sang some old time songs and Mrs. Harvey read a paper on the "Prodigal Mother." After the short program open discussion of the topic was in order. Some questions asked and discussed were:

Can a child at this period be expected to use good judgment?

Do parents need to be specially careful in the example they set at this period?

Can a child of six be expected to know right from wrong?

After the discussion a social hour followed with refreshments of tea and wafers served to those present.

The Christian Endeavors of the Christian church went to La Habra Christian church 100 per cent strong Sunday evening to help with the meeting there. This new society is just being started and needs much support.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain
How To Treat
Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of stomach acids in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices.

The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food poisons, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any cruet a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

For instance, Bozo Kutavich, who once ran a thriving liquor business on Pacific street, was arrested charged with begging on the streets. He is aged 79.

Prosperous As Saloon Owner; Now Is Begging

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Not all of the old-time saloonkeepers are riding in limousines in these days of prohibition.

Anaheim Dancer Appears Tonight

MISS GRETCHEN HOLLAND

Miss Gretchen Holland, one of Anaheim's most talented dancers, will display her charms in "Phoebe," the delightful musical comedy to be presented by the Business and Professional Women's Club at the Anaheim High School auditorium, Friday, November 23. The production includes some unusual dance numbers and Miss Holland leads a ballet of charming girls. Aside from the song and dance features of "Phoebe," a most entertaining plot runs throughout.

MORE LEASES AT ANAHEIM SECURED

ANAHEIM, Nov. 23.—Discussing the unusual activity of various oil companies in securing leases in the Anaheim district, G. M. Simpson, who lives near the Standard Oil company's test well on the Wagner ranch southeast of the city and who has been a close student of the situation since the big oil companies first began to take leases in the Anaheim district stated it appears to him that the Standard is determined to prospect all of the territory in the vicinity of Anaheim.

The latest move of the Standard Oil company that has been the occasion for more than ordinary comment is the leasing of the 70-acre tract three and a half miles northwest of the city from W. A. Boggs. The Standard paid Mr. Boggs $3,500 bonus and will pay him $5 an acre per month until drilling is started. This will give the ranch an income of $350 a month in addition to his crop. The lease was followed by the Keck people's leasing an adjoining twenty acres from Dr. J. H. Swan.

Since the older fields at Santa Fe Springs, Signal Hill and Huntington Beach have been practically drilled out, many believe that all of the equipment from these fields will be moved into the Anaheim district and that oil drilling will soon commence in every direction from this city on a large scale. All geologists are agreed that a huge oil pool underlies the Anaheim district. The problem now is to find the structure and there will soon be a race in which each of the big companies will endeavor to beat the other to it.

Orange Girls League Plans Charity Work

ORANGE, Nov. 23.—The Girls' League of the Orange Union high school has already started their charity work for the year. They are planning to send jellies, oranges and nuts to the Soldiers' hospital down near San Diego. All hospital down near San Diego. All hospital down near San Diego. All hospital down near San Diego.

The girls have been asked to help in this work, and their contributions will be brought in today. The delicacies will be sent down to San Diego in time for the boys to have them for Thanksgiving.

If more jellies and fruits are brought in than are needed for the Soldiers' hospital, they will be sent to the children's hospital in Los Angeles, as there is a great need for such things there.

Miss Ethel V. Walker, the supervisor of the Girls' League, says: "The condition of these soldier boys is pitiful, and many of them will probably never live to see another Thanksgiving. I think the least we can do is to share some of our good things with them and brighten their remaining days."

The small frame building occupied by the Mennes company has been moved from Grand avenue to Ninth street to make room for moving the pool hall.

The frame is up for the first unit of the Sanitarium which is to be built in four units.

Mr. S. W. Little has received word from his wife, who has been in Germany for nearly a year, that she will take the steamer for the United States December 29.

She will visit a sister in Buffalo, New York, before coming to California. She left Buena Park January 29 last so will be gone nearly a year.

Seattle Lawyer Is Buena Park Speaker

BUENA PARK, Nov. 23.—A good audience was out last night to hear Mrs. Thornton of Fullerton speak on Education—but he was unable to be present. However Mr. Calvert, the principal of the school, secured a very good substitute in Mr. Waters, who recently moved to Fullerton from Seattle. Mr. Waters is a lawyer but at one time was superintendent of schools back east and was well qualified to speak, and gave a very interesting talk.

There will be some stereopticon views of the electric light company and electrical work shown at the community hall Friday at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Harold Jaynes of Santa Ana who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Moon, during her husband's absence to San Francisco, returned to her home in Santa Ana yesterday.

The tile roof is being put on the new school house.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Owens were host and hostess to the following weekend party at their ranch near San Marcos: Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson and their guests, Mrs. Bredburg of San Francisco, Mrs. C. Peterson of San Mateo, Karl Sundquist of Sweden, Mrs. Uttenweiler, Miss Katharine Uttenweiler, Miss Hedwig Jenks.

Mrs. Charles Chandler of Hollywood is spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Nelson.

The Dana Osborn family who arrived here last week from Arkansas have gone to housekeeping on the Calloway tract.

Bill Doyle is on the sick list. Miss Ethel McNeil, who is a senior at Pomona College visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McNeil over Sunday.

Mr. W. H. Hanel opened his grocery store in the store building next to the library last Saturday.

Seek Annexation Of Orangethorpe

ANAHEIM, Nov. 23.—The move now on foot to give up the city title of Orangethorpe, the theoretical city west of Anaheim and south of Fullerton, furnishes an ideal opportunity for the long-needed expansion of the city of Anaheim.

This is the belief expressed today by James E. Stewart, local realtor and community booster.

The city of Orangethorpe, incorporated to prevent the establishment of Fullerton's sewer farm in that vicinity, is no longer necessary since Fullerton's participation in the joint outfall sewer project, it is said.

May Lose Chance
The area, bounded by Lincoln avenue, Spadra road, Orangethorpe avenue and Magnolia road, is logically Anaheim's territory, Mr. Stewart says. This city, with its limited area, faces the possibility of losing its opportunity to grow to the north or west.

Fullerton, following the example of Los Angeles, has extended its city limits until now the townsite is seven miles long, while Anaheim's limits extend little over a mile in either direction.

Fixes New Limits
The logical limits for Anaheim, Mr. Stewart believes, is Garden Grove road on the West, Orangethorpe avenue on the north, Placentia road on the east and ball road on the south.

However, the Fullerton city limits have extended to Orangethorpe avenue in several places, and property south of this highway is being subdivided with the view of eventually joining it to Fullerton. Within short time, Mr. Stewart says, Fullerton's city limits will be extended to the north edge of Anaheim and along the western side, unless the people of this city "wake up" and provide for future growth.

Used Bathtub to Make Kraut; Chum Hits Him

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Stewart McClean testified in police court that he got along with Ed Bush, his roommate, fine until Ed used the bathtub to make sauerkraut.

He stood that for three weeks, during which time the tub was kept full of cabbage, he said, but then he just had to have a bath.

So he hit Ed in the nose and Ed had him arrested.

Stewart drew a five-day suspended sentence.

The Pictorial Day

ENDS LOS ANGELES POLICE ROW—Charles A. De Coo (left), who Tuesday resigned as police commissioner of Los Angeles, and J. H. De La Monte, who refused to quit and was removed by Mayor Cryer. Both acts followed city council's assurance to the mayor it would back him in any stand he took for a new police commission.

NEW PRESIDENT PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE—Harry A. Williams, Los Angeles sport writer, elected president of the Pacific Coast Baseball league at its annual meeting on Catalina Island. Williams entered office thru a coup d'etat engineered to oust President McCarthy and his supporters.

GUIDING FORCE IN B. B. ROW—John J. Sullivan, the Seattle attorney and minority stockholder of Seattle's ball club, who engineered the delicate maneuverings which ousted McCarthy as president of the Pacific Coast league.

MONARCH HONORS HIM—San Francisco attorney, H. G. W. Dinkelspiel, is advanced from consul to consul-general by King Rama IV of Siam.

CHALLENGE SO. CALIFORNIA—Morris Albutus tries to outsmart W. J. Nichols, four times champion of Los Angeles Chess and Checker club, at the club's rooms. Both men are practicing to enter the checker tournament scheduled to be held in this city early in January.

NOT DEADWOOD DICK—This is National Book Week, observed for grown-ups and youngsters alike. If you think this studious-appearing 5-year-old—Norman Robert Deming—is poring over Freud, you're mistaken. He's deeply engrossed in "Hey, Diddle Diddle Picture Book." Bob wants to be a first-grader.

TO TRY THE CLIMATE—"In Memoriam," the horse that recently defeated "Zev" and "My Own," is destined for a California winter, it is rumored in the East. The reports state that "In Memoriam" is to open the new Culver City track near Los Angeles at Christmas and also race at Tijuana.

KEEPING CHECK—Admiral Kanji of Japan, now en route to all countries signatory to the disarmament treaty, to inspect just what is going on. He is considered one of Japan's most able naval officers.

INTERNATIONAL COMPLICATIONS are threatened because of the arrest in Los Angeles of A. G. Gilbert, a young Englishman. According to Gilbert's story, which the British consul is investigating, he was arrested without cause and held in jail.

RUSSIAN ARTIST—Dora Stroeve, now en route to the United States to give us a treat this year. She is something of a terror, say the press agents.

FORCEFUL WOMANHOOD—Women members of the Italian Fascisti are organized throughout their nation. Above is a parade of the Cremona branch celebrating the anniversary of the Fascisti victory, October 20, 1922.

CRANE SWIMS TO DO ITS WORK—This giant rock-hoister is washed with waves during high tide. It is being used to construct a breakwater at White's Point, Sulphur Springs, near Los Angeles harbor.

TODAY'S ACQUISITION—Every day or so President Coolidge is presented with a new dog. This is Oshkosh, the animal that may do away with Laddie Buck and Peter Pan.

THE MAN AND HIS MANAGER—Frank Hampton, right, secretary to Senator F. M. Simmons of North Carolina, who, it was reported Tuesday, has been appointed manager of the William G. McAdoo boom. Mr. McAdoo, left, is silent on the appointment, but refuses to get indignant when asked if he will enter the race for the presidency.

Peak upon peak uptowering, these mountain giants rise, Piercing with their summits the far cerulean skies. —Harold Symmes. View of the San Bernardino mountains from Camp Radford, California.

EVENING SALUTATION

O God, Thy world is sweet with prayer,
The breath of Christ is in the air;
We rise on Thy free spirit's wings,
And every thought within us sings.
—Lucy Larcom.

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

If "a thing of beauty is a joy forever"—and it is, for long after its material form and substance have been resolved into their original elements its spirit lives in the souls of men and the children of men throughout the ages—the people of the First Church of Christ Scientist have rendered this community a signal service in the erection of their beautiful church home on North Main street.

This beautiful building and the beautifully landscaped grounds surrounding it constitute a distinct community asset in aesthetic values.

And we like to believe—and do believe—that the Christian Science people had this community service and value in mind when they planned their new church home. Of course they wanted this home to be a thing of beauty for the delight and inspiration of their own souls, but undoubtedly they also sought to serve the community in which they live and which they love and in the spiritual and material life of which they are an important factor.

This architectural and landscape gem is in a sense the property of the Christian Science society, but in a larger and better sense it belongs to Santa Ana and to all the hundreds of thousands of people who will experience a thrill of delight when they see it in passing up and down Santa Ana's principal thoroughfare. The people who built it are to be commended for their liberality and vision and Santa Ana is to be congratulated thereupon.

PENMANSHIP IN SCHOOLS

One of the most interesting newspaper reports concerning activities in the Santa Ana schools that we have seen recently was that appearing in The Register under the heading, "Penmanship To Be Asked of Poly Grads".

Under the plan adopted at the high school, every student whose penmanship is not up to par will be required to take a course in that art.

We are in favor of the plan. We vote just as many votes as we have got in favor of it.

And we have but one suggestion to make, and that is, why wait until the students get into the high school? Why not give him a test like that in the eighth grade, or the sixth, or the fourth? If he is found deficient in penmanship, why not concentrate upon that weakness?

And we might make the same suggestion concerning spelling.

Many grown-ups today will excuse their poor handwriting by saying it was the fault of the schools because when they were children the schools were going through a variety of educational experiments, such as our schools are sometimes subjected to. The old systems of teaching handwriting had been found obsolete.

There were changes from Spencerian to vertical, and the good old forearm muscle movement was touted to be the greatest discovery in chirography.

When the present generation grows up and get into business life, where good handwriting is always worth while, it should have no excuses to make, no blame to put on the schools, if the latter carry out the idea suggested in the plans at the high school.

GOOD LORD, DELIVER US!

Good evening!

How's your inferiority complex this evening?

Or have you got one?

You don't know what an inferiority complex is?

What shocking ignorance!

Almost equal to our own. We didn't know—at least we didn't quite know—until we heard Prof. J. Russell Bruff define and exemplify its meaning in an address at the Kiwanis Club the other day.

According to that definition—and seriously and sincerely speaking, now—an inferiority complex is a mighty bad thing for anybody to have—especially a community inferiority complex.

"Suppose," said Prof. Bruff, "you meet a certain man ten or a dozen times during a fortnight, and every time you meet him he says something like this:

"My, but I do hate these winds; they make me as nervous as a witch."

"Darn these foggy mornings, they give me the blues; I've a good notion to move to Redlands or Hemet."

"If I was running the town I'd do something to stop the traffic noise at night on North Main street, so the people could get a little sleep."

"Why can't we have some place to go in the evening besides the picture show and to bed, I'd like to know?" I get so hungry for amusement sometimes that I'm tempted to sell out and move to a real town."

"And so on and on, world without end.

"That man," said Prof. Bruff, "has a bad case of community inferiority complex."

And we say, Good Lord deliver us from such a man! A man who can see only the spots on the sun. A man who can see only our faults and shortcomings—individual or community. A man who is blind to the beauty and beneficence all round about him, but has an eagle eye for the relatively infinitesimal blemishes and weak spots.

Again and again, Good Lord deliver us from such a man!

FAVORS EARNED INCOMES

Nothing in Secretary Mellon's plan for the reduction of income taxes has attracted more favorable attention than his proposal to reduce the tax rate on "earned incomes."

The essential justice of that proposal is evident to anybody, when once the matter is clearly stated. An "earned income" is the income of the man or woman who works for wages or salary, or fees for any kind of personal or professional service. The big majority of our taxpayers earn their incomes.

"Unearned income" is income from investment or other sources which do not depend on the effort of the person receiving it.

The former type of income, as Secretary Mellon says, is "uncertain and limited in duration." It is destroyed by sickness or death and diminished by age. It continues only while the taxpayer keeps on working. The latter comes in just the same, regardless of the idleness or age or health of the taxpayer, because "the sources of the income continue."

It is manifestly unfair, as well as bad business policy, to tax both kinds of income alike, as our government has been doing. Foreign countries have long made the distinction now recommended here. There ought to be no question about its acceptance by Congress, in any revision of the income tax law, so as to give the earned income a substantial advantage.

"His Mind to Him a Kingdom Is"

Marysville (Mo.) Democrat

As a rule our minds are kits of tools with which any one of us may carve beautiful things and build great ones, yet for the most part we put them to no better use than the magnetizing of money, at which they fail more often than they succeed.

And when they have failed us in this, we set them to the manufacture of misery, in which they are capable of turning out just as many kinds and colors as we will allow.

There is nothing in this world more pitiful than the person who whines at you that he has had no chance, for he represents a mass of material that has been allowed to go to waste amid surroundings always favorable to some good and fairly profitable use.

In most instances of this sort the cause of failure may be found lurking in this fact—that the complainant sought for everything and made no attempt to find his life on what was within himself.

Time and time again we meet men and women whose beginnings in life would seem to warrant some such wall, but these are not the ones from whom it comes. Battling with conditions that appeared to be hopeless, they have discovered the ever-present blue patch in the black sky and guided themselves by the stars seen through the opening.

There are so many stars in the sky of life—even as in the sky above our heads—that the littlest rifts in the clouds will show at least one, and nearly always more than one.

The one real world in which we live is that of our own thoughts.

All things are largely as we think they are. It is, therefore, easy to see that failure to use the mind spells failure in almost any undertaking. If not all of them. And the reverse is true—that we succeed in just such measure as we think, and that the higher we think the higher our success.

The happiest persons are not those who have the largest share of material belongings, but those who have made the fullest use of their mentality, gaining thereby such wealth as cannot be taken away, even though the bottom fall out of all markets.

The Drag on Civilization

Kansas City Star

Those who sometimes become discouraged at the slow progress of humanity fail to take into account the load the race must carry on its shoulders.

It is not commonly enough realized that advancement must be the work of only a part of human beings, and that what progress is made must come in spite of tremendous handicaps. The true state of affairs was suggested in a recent address of Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford university and of the American Medical Association. Said Dr. Wilbur:

Our civilization must carry along the very young and the very old and a certain number of the sick, but it has in addition the terrible burden of the insane, criminal, feeble-minded, blind, crippled, diseased and those who are a prey to alcohol and drugs and their own vices.

Then add to that heavy load the persistent deterrent force of the ignorant, those who close their eyes to light and unconsciously or deliberately oppose every forward move the open-minded, healthy and courageous leaders of the race attempt to make. What a burden the race must carry as it struggles on. What patience it displays, after all, with the retarding, the pullback forces in its midst!

Humanity has chosen a better, a less cruel way, than the exercise of force and the rude casting aside of those of its members who are a burden. It has chosen to work through education, public health efforts, schools, libraries, churches, hospitals and other institutions to lift up the weak, open the eyes of the blind, mentally and physically, and to slacken its pace, even at the expense of progress in order that all may move gradually forward. Through that method humanity hopes to lighten its burden eventually and to speed up its progress.

Propaganda In Schools

Stockton Independent

During the war the public schools were used effectively in helping to put over Liberty Loan drives and other important war propaganda. Though many educators felt that it was a mistaken use of the educational system, the public on the whole seemed to feel that it was justified by the greatness of the emergency.

Since the war there have been many demands that the schools be let alone by publicity seekers. It is urged that a school is a place for teaching children and developing their abilities, not for spreading specific propaganda, however worthy.

In one city, just before the election of November 6, the schools were used, with the consent of the school board and the teachers' federation, for the distribution of literature in favor of a measure which was to come before the voters. That a great many before the voters. That a great many citizens were in favor of the measure, and that it had been endorsed by the school board and the teachers' body, seemed sufficient reason for reaching the public through the children.

The next day opponents of the measure demanded that the school board distribute their posters and literature. They insisted that the board's action in reaching voters through pupils had established a precedent, and that the campaign facilities of the schools ought henceforth be open equally to all.

The abuses that would arise if all schools were thus made the free distributing agents for all factions and groups are obvious. Teachers would have no time to teach or pupils to study under such circumstances. Schools are a tremendous influence for progress in a community, but their service is likely to be weakened by such interruptions.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

PAIN IN THE NECK

One of the slang expressions one hears is "That gives me a pain in the neck."

I believe the expression "That makes me tired," must have originated about the same time and about the same things.

"Because as a matter of fact—pain in the neck is just due in most cases to "tiredness."

So many complain about this pain in the back of the neck that I thought a few words about it might be of benefit to them.

If you have given the matter any thought you will remember that it was not whilst you were working, or playing that the pain came on, but during a "resting period" either in your car or attending a lecture or concert.

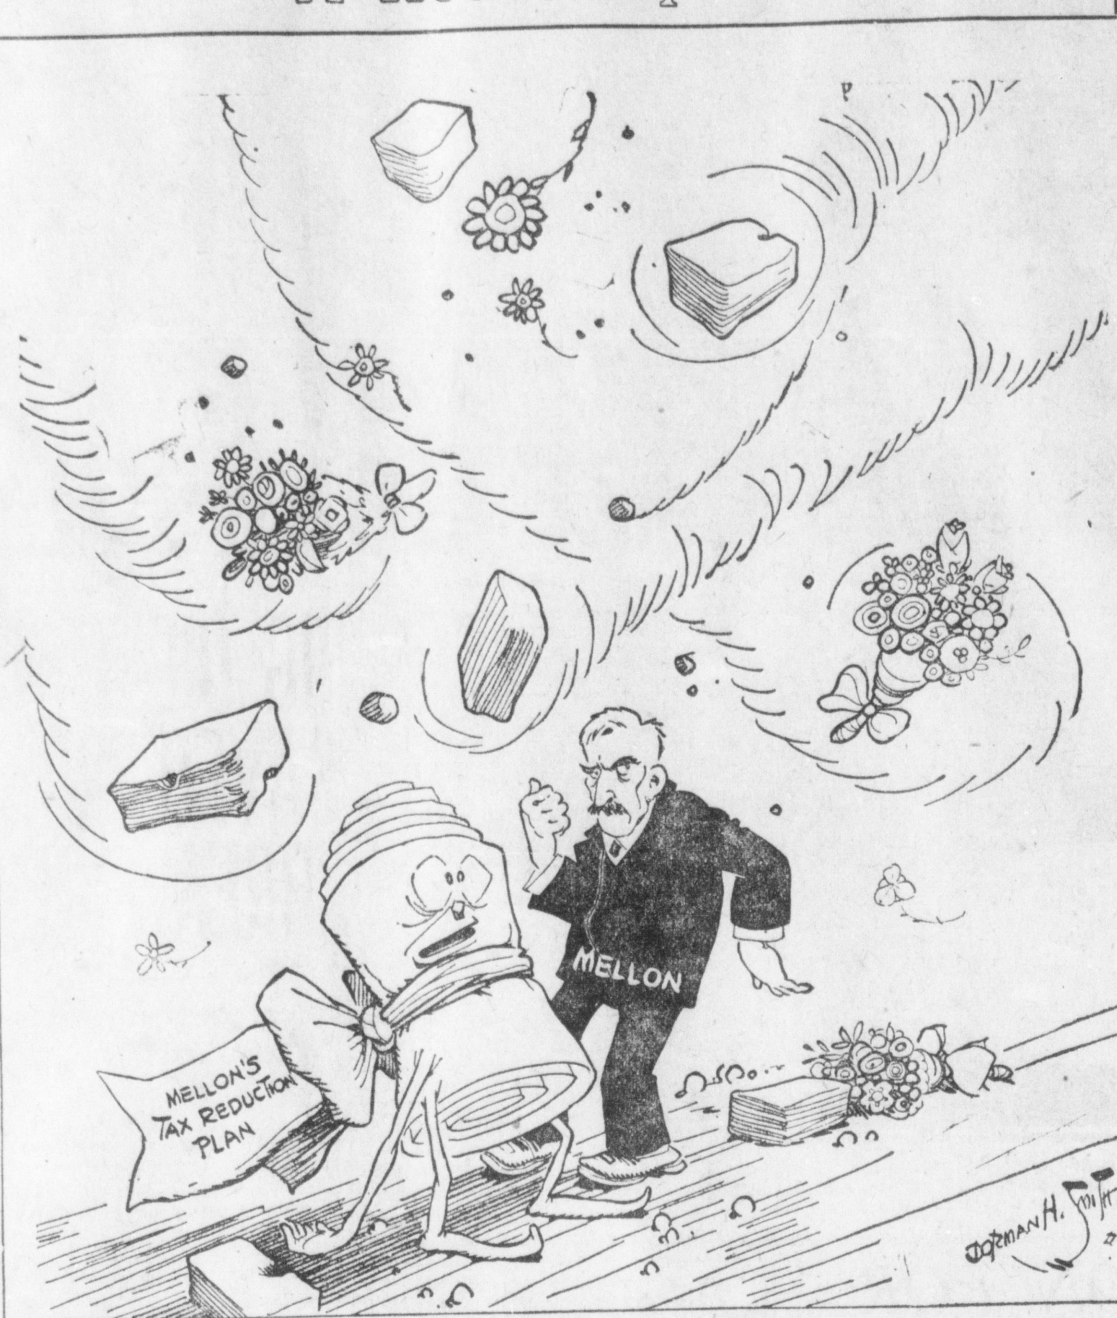

And the cause? Simply that you have held the head in the one position for such a period of time that the muscles get tired.

Perhaps you have tried holding your arm out on the level with your shoulder with effort straight. In a few minutes your arm "ached" and you were forced to lower your arm. Similarly, holding the head slightly back, because you have allowed your shoulders to droop forward causes a sharp contraction of the muscles in the neck.

There is only thing to do about it. Sit erect with the lower part of your back against your chair, and you'll not have a "pain in the neck."

This is a good habit anyway, as it gives your lungs plenty of room to do their work.

A Hot Reception

America's Favorite Songs

HOME, SWEET HOME

'Mid pleasures and palaces
Though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble,
There's no place like home;
A charm from the skies
Seems to hallow us there,
Which, seek thro' the world,
Is ne'er met with elsewhere.

Home, home, sweet, sweet home,
There's no place like home,
There's no place like home.

I gaze on the moon
And tread the dewy wild,
And I feel that my mother
Now thinks of her child.
As she looks on that moon
From our own cottage door,
Thro' the wood-bine whose fragrance
Shall cheer me no more.

An exile from home,
Splendor dazzles in vain;
Oh, give me my lowly Thatched cottage again;
The birds singing gaily,
That came at my call,
Give me them and that Peace of mind, dearer than all.

It isn't often that the birthday of a song is celebrated. That happened, however, on May 8, 1893, when the centenary of "Home Sweet Home" was observed.

John Howard Payne, the author, was born in New York, June 9, 1792. He was one of a large family. As a boy Payne showed considerable elocutionary ability. A friend of the family, defrayed his expenses at Union College, but upon the death of his mother he left college and tried his luck on the stage. When only 20 he appeared on the stage in England.

SONG IN PLAY

Payne originally wrote "Clari, or the Maid of Milan," as a play. The famous actor, Charles Kemble, to whom he had submitted the manuscript, told him he would accept "Clari" if Payne would set music to it. Kemble produced the resultant opera and paid the author 50 pounds for it. At the time the opera was accepted, Payne was almost starving in an attic in Paris. Nearly everyone connected with the opera became wealthy through it except Payne.

In later years he said, "How often have I been in the heart of Paris, Berlin, London or some other city and heard persons sing or hand organs play 'Home, Sweet Home,' without having a shilling to buy myself the next meal or a place to lay my head on. The world has literally sung my song until every heart is familiar with its melody, yet I have been a wanderer from boyhood."

Worth While Verse

OPPORTUNITY

I stand and beg for entrance day by day,
I never leave. I do not fly away;
I stand right where I stood long, long ago,
I do not sleep or slumber but I grow
Into a new form every passing hour—
I hold forever, Fame, Honor and Power,
And all who will can have whatever they will,
But they must know, first, Industry, then Skill,
I come but once to all who will not see—
The blind, the pessimists, can not find me,
Except in forms unnatural, low and mean,
But my real self by them can not be seen.
Such men have eyes, but bereft of true sight;
And ears have they, but can not hear aright.
They say I come no more, but 'tis not true—
I change my form—but I am each day new.

—H. H. Siegle, in Epworth Era.

Dorothy had been to morning service and her mother asked her if she remembered the text.
"It was such a funny text, mama," she said. "Sweet peas and suet."

Little Benny's Note Book

by Lee Page

Saturday afternoon ma was going to have company and she sent me to the baker store for a dozen lady fingers, and on the way back I met Puds Simkins on his way home from the front store with a bag of plums, and he swapped me a plum for a lady finger and then I swapped him a lady finger for a plum and then we both met Mary Watkins going home from the butcher store with some sausages, Puds saying, I bet you can't guess what I got in here.

Meeting in his bag, and I said, it aint as good as what I got in here. Meeting in my bag, and Puds held his bag out saying, Help yourself, take all you want to.

Take some of these, too, theres plenty more ware these came from, I said.

Well, I dont mind if I do, thank you, Mary Watkins said. And she took a plum out of Pudses bag and a lady finger out of mine and started to take bites out of each, saying, O this is lovely, O this is wonderful, after different bites, and she took 3 more lady fingers out of my bag and 3 more plums out of his so as not to hurt his feelings, and on the way home with the rest of the lady fingers I got nervous and nervous, ma saying, Well you were long enuff, goodness knows, give me the lady fingers.

G, ma, a funny thing happened, I sed, and ma sed, Dont say another word let me look into that bag. Which she did, and I sed, I tell you how it was, ma.

I dont want to hear the explanation because I know it will be ridiculous, ma sed. Which it probably would be, and ma wouldn't leave me go out after supper and I didnt see Puds Simkins on either, being the only consolation.

Autumn's Golden Message

San Francisco Journal

THE WANDERER
Down in my heart a question beats

Above the hum of the busy streets

And beneath the thought of work to be done

As I toil and struggle from sun to sun

It sings on the wind at the break of day;

I hear its strains as the children play

And romp along on their way to school

Or race back home in the evening's cool.

The honking of the motor car
Or the locomotive, faint and far,
As it starts on its journey from sea to sea,

Rouses the question again for me.

For I see the far-flung frontier then

"The great wide spaces where men are men;"

Or the icy sweep of the polar snow

With a furry bear and an Esquimaux.

Perchance I dream of a jungle scene

With torpid pythons and parrots green;

Or even the wilds of Timbuctoo

Or the far-off home of the kangaroo.

Oh, many the countries strange I see

When that question beats in the heart of me.

And I wonder which land was her one-time home,

And where did the Roman matron roam?

CHRONICLES OF THE LITTLE GRAY HOUSE

It seemed fairly to rock with mirth, did the Little Gray House, for we have learned that it loves funny things and life and gaiety as well as any human being. Its soul is a mirth-loving one, and so the Strange Adventure of the Sunday school teacher and the Cigarette gave it pleasure.

The story was told to us as we all sat before the fire remembering the amusing events of the day. It seemed that the earnest little lady who teaches a class of active lads at a certain Santa Ana Sunday school wanted to impress upon their youthful minds the dreadful effects of nicotine in connection with an anti-narcotic lesson.

It seemed to her that she could imbue them with a feeling of disgust at the sight of anyone smoking a cigarette, she would have accomplished a great deal. So she carefully prepared a "coffin nail" of dried walnut leaves in the correct wrapper and placed it among her leaflets and quarterly in readiness for the lesson.

Just as she was entering the church and passing a group of young boys just reached the long trousers stage, what was her horror to see the cigarette lying on the ground at her feet. Embarrassed and disconcerted she swooped down to retrieve the tell-tale affair just as one of the lads sought to pick it up. With burning cheeks she reached it first and marched into her class with head erect.

At the proper place in the lesson, she pointed out to her little class, the evils of smoking and then added its disgusting appearance.

"How would you like to see ME walking along with one of the nasty things thrust in my mouth?" she said, suiting the action to the word. The cigarette tasted worse than she anticipated, and almost sickened by it, she hastily concluded her talk, disposed of the cigarette and dismissed the class.

And it was not until she reached home and was putting away her lesson leaf and quarterly that she found, still tucked between the leaves, the cigarette of dried walnut leaves she had so carefully prepared.

IF YOU HAVE anything you don't want I can get you something you do want for it, declares an intrepid advertiser in Our Favorite Paper. What about a bad conscience or jumping toothache or the measles?

All of which reminds me of the news story in the small-town paper that came to my desk last week.

It said: "There has been some talk of closing the schools on account of the epidemic of measles that has swept our city. But the health officer thinks the epidemic is nearly ended. Alvin Gary, town constable, caught them yesterday."

Isn't that a splendid example of bravery?

Dear Patchwork Lady:

My Big Brother is going to offer what he calls an efficiency test in which people will have to answer certain questions. He says the first three are "Good morning, have you used Pear's soap?"

"Have you a little fairy in your home?" and "Eventually, why not now?"

The next three are in a different group and are "Whom did the mountain trail?" "Why did the cowplop?" and "What gave the window pane?" He has lots more of them, but that's enough now, isn't it?

—Little Sister.

"I do so love this poem by Henry and wonder if you would print it so others might love it too," writes one who signs her name, Ann Onimous. "The poem is William E. Hanley's 'Night-ingale Has a Lyre of Gold.'"

The nightingale has a lyre of gold.

The lark's is a clarion call,

And the blackbird plays but a boxwood flute,

But I love him best of all.

For his song is all of the joy of life,

And we in the mad spring weather,

We two have listened till he sang,

Our hearts and lips together.
